VOL. XXXXIV. OAKLAND, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 13, 1897. NO. 89.

A PLAN HAS BEEN FINALLY ADOPTED.

Pardee-Davis Arbitration Committee Will Very Shortly Adjourn.

THE LAST MEETING FOR TONIGHT

An Expression of Opinion to Come Directly From the Voters.

THREE PLANS DISCUSSED.

An Informal Primary Held the Boards for Awhile.

METCALF FOR CONGRESS.

He Has Definitely Stated That He Is in the Field.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—The hour is at hand for the settlement of the much disputed question of whether Davis or Pardee will be the gubernatorial candidate from Alameda county.

Five meetings of the special committee appointed to arbitrate the matter have so far been held and a sixth will take place this evening.

The meeting tonight is to be a final one.

The committee has completed its labors and will then adjourn sine die.

Its work has been attended with a great many difficulties as from the very first, neither of the two candidates was disposed to concede an inch of ground to his rival.

Both Davis and Pardee have attended most of the meetings and have heard the various plans proposed by which the dispute could be settled.

From the very first they have both frankly admitted that if they both remained in the fight neither could win, so the one thing to be decided was to make some arrangement by which one would withdraw in favor of the other.

The great difficulty that beset the committee was the fact that on the face of matters it had been absolutely impossible to tell which candidate would be the most popular in the county.

In the city of Oaland it was figured that Pardee with the prestige obtained from the anti-railroad element during the severe onslaught that was made on the Southern Pacific during his incumbency as Mayor, would probably have a slight advantage over Davis.

On the other hand, it was thought that Davis had a little the advantage as far as the interior of the county is concerned.

Everything therefore was at an absolute deadlock and the work of the committe was devoted purely to suggesting plans by which a test of the relative strength of the two candidates could be obtained.

THREE PLANS PRESENTED.

The deliberations of the committee finally became resolved into three plans.

The first was to hold an informal primary throughout the whole county, this test election to be held within the next two, or at the outside, three months.

The second plan was for clubs to be organized for each of the candidates all throughout the city and county, and the test of their strength to be decided by the number of members who signed the rolls of each.

The third plan was to obtain an expression of opinion directly from the voters. This it was figured could be done by corresponding directly with everybody on the Great Register, enclosing a slip on which would be marked a preference for either Davis or Pardee, said slips to be returned to headquarters and there counted.

It was figured that by any one of these methods an absolute test could be made of which candidate was the stronger.

Although neither Pardee nor Davis pledged themselves to abide by the results obtained, there was a tacit understanding between all that the one who found his opponent gave indications of more strength than he himself possessed should withdraw.

Various other methods were suggested from time to time, but it was finally decided to abide by one of the three plans in question.

Then came the query, which one?

The proposition to hold an informal primary has been practically abandoned on the ground that it would be too expensive. Election officers would have to be appointed, booths arranged, and the expenses would soon swell into the thousands.

The plan to organize clubs met with considerable favor for a while, but it, too, has been finally side-tracked. The reason for this is that there would be great dangers of not obtaining representative clubs for each man throughout the entire county, and that in the event of anything like a close vote there would be much dissatisfaction and possibly a positive refusal on the part of one of the two candidates to abide by the decision on the score that the test was not a complete one.

THE PLAN ADOPTED.

The third plan has, therefore, been practically adopted, and the understanding with which the committee meets tonight is that it will be then ratified.

By corresponding directly with the voters, it is believed that there will be no question as to obtaining the actual opinion on the matter, and after all the plan will not be a very expensive one, for it will simply involve the cost of clerical work, a little printing and postage stamps.

The details of the plan have not yet been arranged, but will not prove difficult.

The principal item of expense will be for postage, and a most liberal outside estimate shows that the whole thing can be settled for somewhere about a thousand dollars.

Of course this is quite a little item of expense, but then it is after all a trifle compared with the results.

There is no question that if Alameda county decides on one candidate now she will be able to control the State convention in that regard.

Local patriotism would between now and the date of the State convention settle all factional differences and the Alameda county delegation would certainly go up solid for Davis or Pardee—whichever it is to be.

It is interesting at this date to note that although strenuous denials were made of the story as exclusively published in the Tribune, that a committee had been appointed to dispose of this all-important subject, admissions of everything exactly as set forth in these columns are now being made all along the line. It will be noticed, too, that the committeemen are exactly who the Tribune said they were, and that the meetings have been conducted on the very lines detailed in these columns.

It is possible, too, that denials will now be in order of the facts set forth here today, but whether they are or not, it is absolutely certain that, as narrated here, the committee will hold its final session this evening, and that the general plan as outlined above will be adopted as the one by which will be determined whether Davis or Pardee will go into the gubernatorial fray as the representative of Alameda county.

HATTON.

THE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT FIGURES ALSO.

Hilborn Men Said to Be Combining With the Davis Wing

Many interesting features have now entered into local politics and no matter whether the line be drawn between "a friendly contest," or "a fight," makes no difference—it is an active struggle and each side declares that odds are even.

During the past couple of weeks there has been some marked deviations in the ebb and flow of public opinion. When the contest started it was clearly limited to Dr. Pardee and W. R. Davis. For a short time it was confined to those two men but when it was seen that neither was making any overtures to withdraw but that each was marshalling his friends to press the matter with all the strength at their command, it was then claimed that the hope of either must depend solely on combinations.

For a time the lines bounding these combinations were very clear. They indicated that the Gubernatorial and Congressional fights were inallensble and the fate of either Davis or Pardee would be decided by the man with whom they decided to run. It was said to be the programme that Davis should ally with Congressman Hilborn and Pardee should run with Metcalf. This position was greatly strengthened when it was made known that Victor Metcalf really intended to try for the Congressional nomination.

This was the condition of affairs in the local political world when Senator Stratton, Guy C. Earl, and A. B. Nye were constituted a committee to try and bring about a condition of affairs that would result in determining which of the two men or the two combinations, is the stronger.

"It now appears that there has been more in this 'friendly contest' than we were aware of," said a prominent politician this morning. "Things have been handled, of which those not on the inside have little or no knowledge. When this fight started it was very evident that Davis and Hilborn were being run by the same wing of the party. It was also as evident that Pardee might join hands with Metcalf if the latter should be a candidate. Now that he is a candidate the fight has reached a very definite stage. There has been for several days practically a deadlock and it must be broken or else Alameda county's chances of naming a governor go by the board. There are many who think that from the first W. R. Davis

Walter Cummings Succumbs to a Blow While Fighting for Fever Sufferers.

A CLOUD ON THE TULANE CLUB.

After a Battle of Fifteen Hard Rounds, Griffin Kills His Man.

THE VICTOR UNDER ARREST.

Bad Effects Expected in New Orleans in Reviving the Sport.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13.—The new Tulane Athletic Club was opened last night with a big benefit for the indigent yellow fever patients and families. An attractive programme including boxing bouts was arranged, and among these was a contest between Jack Cummings and Walter Griffin, who both had been training to fight for some time. There was much interest in the contest and a large crowd was on hand. Prof. Duffy was the referee.

The fight was fast from start to finish, and both men gave and received much punishment. Each was fairly clever.

Fifteen rounds were fought, but before the end of that time, both of the fighters were in an apparent state of exhaustion and physicians and others had made efforts prior to the fifteenth round to bring the battle to a close.

In the fifteenth round, Griffin hit Cummings a hard punch and the latter sank to the floor, not from the effects of the blow, but from lack of vitality. He was picked up and carried to his corner and then to his dressing room. He complained that his head hurt. He asked that he be laid on his stomach, and became unconscious. From that time he never spoke audibly. Physicians were summoned and made an examination of the man.

Dr. Bloom of the Charity Hospital said that the man's injuries were fatal and that he was suffering with hemorrhage of the brain and possibly concussion.

The best of attention was given him, but at 4:15 A. M. he died. Griffin had also been badly punished and was taken to his home.

Policemen were sent to watch by Griffin's bedside. When Cummings' death was announced Griffin was placed under arrest, but was not able to be moved.

Cummings was a motorneer and Griffin the son of a police officer. The former had been married but seven months. The fatal termination of the fight may have an effect on the scheme to revive boxing contests and may prevent the McPartland-Everhardt fight on Monday night next.

During the forenoon Griffin had recovered sufficiently to warrant his removal to court.

An Over-Wrought Attorney Gets Mixed as to His Figures of Speech.

THE PROSECUTION REJOICES.

Children of the Defendant Not Allowed to Play in the Jury's Presence.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The usual mad rush for Judge Tuthill's court-room followed immediately after the doors of the Criminal Court building were opened today, and for nearly two hours people stood in line waiting to be admitted to the room. Hundreds were turned away when the court room became filled.

Attorney Phalen opened the argument to the jury on behalf of the defense. He will be followed by ex-Judge Vincent, who will close the case for Luetgert in a speech lasting nearly two days.

"If the case had been submitted to the jury when the State closed its evidence, I verily believe a verdict of not guilty would have resulted at once," declared Attorney Phalen. "The evidence of the prosecution came from intimidated witnesses who perjured themselves," he asserted with emphasis.

"These witnesses were brow-beaten by the police and drilled to what they were to swear to. They came into this court to swear away the life of an innocent man. During the progress of this trial, we had a good illustration of perjury when Emma Schimpke gave her evidence and afterwards admitted to her friends that she had deliberately lied. Police persecution and intimidation percolates throughout the entire case, from which fairly drips the rottenness of police methods. The chain of circumstances about which Mr. McEwan has said so much is composed of distorted and fragmentary bits of perjured evidence so wholly contradictory and unreliable that no jury composed of sensible men can for a moment give it credence.

"Gentlemen, you are the judges of the law and the evidence. It remains for you to say whether my client is to unjustly suffer at the hands of perjurers."

At this point in his argument, Attorney Phalen, who was worked up to a high pitch of excitement, became a trifle confused and talked about "false perjury." State's Attorney Deneen chewed a lead pencil in an effort to suppress laughter, and Assistant State's Attorney McEwan pulled his blonde moustache until his face grew red because of the self-inflicted pain. Ex-Judge Vincent stared at his colleague in an annoyed manner. Attorney Phalen gradually recovered himself and talked on police intimidation, perjury, and kindred topics.

One of the incidents of the session was the appearance in court of Luetgert's two little boys. The lads had not been in court for several weeks. They climbed up on their father's knee and he fondled them while Attorney Phalen talked. Assistant State's Attorney McEwan approached Judge Tuthill and quietly objected to the children being conspicuously exhibited before the jury. Judge Tuthill ordered that they be sent to seats apart from the one occupied by their father.

In a loud tone of voice, ex-Judge Vincent objected to the removal of the children.

"Oh, your object is plain enough, and I will not permit it," retorted Judge Tuthill.

"I note an exception to the remarks of the court," said ex-Judge Vincent.

"Very well; go on Mr. Phalen," ordered the court.

But the Luetgert children were removed and will not be allowed to play upon the sympathies of the jury.

An Alleged Train Robber Faces Trial and Capital Punishment.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13.—Taking of evidence in the second trial of John Kennedy, alleged leader of the gang that robbed a Chicago and Alton train at the famous Blue Cut, near here, December last, was begun in the criminal court this morning. In outlining its case, the defense intimated that "manufactured" testimony is to be used in the hearing. Prosecutor Lowe promises a conviction. This is the first case of the kind that has come up in Jackson county since the law was passed making train robbery punishable by death.

At the previous trial the jury failed to agree.

A MONSTER COMBINE IN WINDOW GLASS.

A Number of the Large Eastern Factories Consolidate Interests.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 13.—The organization of the greatest combination of window glass manufacturers ever formed in this country was completed at Camden, New Jersey, yesterday. It was named the American Window Glass Company and is composed of all the factories of the country, except half a dozen small concerns. The capital stock was fixed at $200,000, but the actual capital represented in the combination aggregates nearly $80,000,000.

James M. Chambers of this city was elected president and Pittsburg was chosen as the general selling agency.

The Board of Works.

The meeting of the Board of Public Works this morning consumed but a few minutes. After passing a few bills the Board referred the matter of providing settees for the parks of the city to the Superintendent of Streets and adjourned.

HER SUCCESSFUL ESCAPE.

Passed Havana Officials Who Were Stupid From Wine.

KNOWN AS JUAN SOLA.

Rejoicing in the Metropolis Over the Arrival of the Heroine.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Evangelina Cassio Cisneros, who recently escaped from a Spanish prison in Cuba, was a passenger on the Ward line steamer Seneca, which arrived today from Havana. At quarantine, Miss Cisneros asked to be excused from saying anything about her imprisonment and escape as she had not yet recovered from sea-sickness, which kept her in her stateroom during the whole voyage. On the passenger list, she was registered as Miss Juana Sola. She was traveling under the care of a gentleman who accompanied her from Havana. When the Seneca reached quarantine, the tow-boat J. Fred Lohman, with several newspaper representatives and four women, went alongside the steamer and, after the health-officer's inspection, was over, they went on board and accompanied Miss Cisneros to this city.

Miss Cisneros's escape and safe arrival on the Seneca was one of the most daring feats ever attempted and successfully carried out.

While she was still in prison, her friends secured a pass port for one "Juan Sola," and state room No. 3 on the Seneca was held in the same name. This was three days before the boat sailed. On the Saturday when the Seneca was to leave Havana, Detectives watched her gangways with extra caution. All day long, they remained at their post, examining the pass-ports which all passengers have to show before leaving Havana. Their vigilance would probably have prevented the departure of Miss Cisneros from Cuba, had it not been for a little refreshments which was served them by friends of Miss Cisneros, who were aboard the Seneca. The refreshment included wine. The chief of police of Havana came aboard while the refreshment part of the plot was in progress, and, it is alleged he too, fell a victim to the wiles of the Cisneros faction. A few minutes before the Seneca was ready to pull out from her dock, a slim young

ALL DOUBTS AT REST.

Victor H. Metcalf Is Positively a Candidate for Congress.

"I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress," said Victor H. Metcalf to-day. "I have been asked by a number of prominent people to enter the race and having made a partial survey of the situation I have agreed to do so. I cannot tell what complications may arise or how the Congressional fight may affect the Gubernatorial contest, but at this time I am a candidate. I believe that a man who intends to go to Congress should be prepared to be returned for at least six years, as it is necessary for him to carry projects along from session to session. I believe that a great deal can be accomplished for local projects by a man who is in constant attendance upon committee meetings and who gives his attention to the work before him."

THE SATHER PROPERTY.

E. A. Brugulere, the Owner, May Withdraw His Offer.

WILFULLY DEPRECIATING IT.

Rival Park Promoters Trying to Decry the Real Value.

PRESENT OFFER WILL STAND.

Statements That the Land Is Bonded Proven to Be False.

A rumor was current today that E. A. Brugulere, representing the Sather estate Tract, had decided to withdraw his recent proposition to the City Council offering the property for a public park. Mr. Brugulere is actuated in this, it is said, by the statements of the many real estate operators interested in other park propositions who are decrying and depreciating the value of his property. A well known attorney of this city, who is associated to some extent in a business way with Mr. Brugulere, stated today to a Tribune reporter that Mr. Brugulere felt very much incensed at some of the stories that have been put in circulation about the Sather Tract. One of them is to the effect that there exists a bond on the property for a sum less than the price given to the Council. Mr. Brugulere emphatically denies this. Another one is that the property was offered some months ago for $250,000. Mr. Brugulere also repudiates this. The only bond ever given on the property was for $500,000 to Mr. James Gamble and associates some years ago. Mr. Brugulere's Oakland friend professes to know that the property cannot be acquired now or at any time in the future for one dollar less than the recent price quoted to the City Council. Mr. Brugulere declares that he never sought to sell the property to the city and that the overtures regarding the property were all made to him. He feels that those having other propositions in their zealousness for their own deals, are circulating in the public prints and elsewhere the statement that sums from $600 to $1,000 an acre are ample, when as a matter of fact there are no circumstances whereby any one but representatives of the city could even purchase it for the price he has named and then it must be for park purposes only.

Mr. Brugulere wishes the property to be not considered at all at any other figure than the one he has named and unless the work of depreciating it ceases, he will withdraw it absolutely from consideration and ultimately carry out his original idea of subdividing it for residence spots. An effort was made to reach Mr. Brugulere in San Francisco by telephone today, but the information was given by his clerk that he was on this side of the bay and would not be in his office until it was too late to publish any statement that he might make in the matter.

Approaching Retirement of the Nestor of the U. S. Supreme Court.

OUTLIVED MARSHALL'S TERM.

Permanent Rest Receiving the Consideration of the Jurist.

McKENNA TO SUCCEED HIM.

The Aged Jurist Declines to Discuss the Matter for the Public.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Justice Stephen J. Field, of the United States Supreme Court, it is believed, by many of his friends, will announce his retirement from the Supreme Court bench some time during the present term, though he himself would say nothing about the matter for publication, when newspaper men called at his residence today.

He was appointed in 1863 to his present position and, being nearly 81 years old, has been eligible for retirement on full pay for nearly 11 years. He has been in ill-health for several years but has continued in service, though, for some time past, his attendance has been rather irregular and he has not taken as active a part as formerly in the preparation of opinions. Since he passed Chief Justice Marshall's record, he has had retirement under serious consideration and it is thought an announcement will be made before long that he has taken this course. Attorney-General McKenna is regarded as being almost certain to succeed Justice Field. Both come from California.

An Associated Press reporter called at Justice Field's residence today, but the Justice excused himself, sending down word that he was not feeling well. Mrs. Field would neither confirm nor deny reports of her husband's pending retirement, though giving the impression that it was at least under serious advisement. At the Supreme Court, it was said that nothing was known there on the subject and that any announcement must come from Justice Field himself. That the members of the court believe the Justice will decide to make way for a younger and more active man is shown by the fact that they have postponed several important decisions until the beginning of the New Year by which time it is thought quite likely Justice Field may have retired and his successor be in office, though, of course, it is possible that the Justice may, in the end, decide to remain in office, as he has done several times in the past when his retirement was contemplated by himself.

CASES POSTPONED.

The belief that Justice Field is seriously contemplating early retirement from the Supreme Court bench was strengthened today by the postponement of several more important cases until the last Monday in January.

Among these were the question involving the constitutionality of the anti-trust law of Texas and several cases appealed from the Court of Private Land Claims dealing with Spanish land grants. The postponement in the Texas case was made upon the statement to the court by one of the attorneys that it involves a constitutional question, rendering it desirable that it should be considered by a full bench.

The Chief Justice in consultations with members of the bar, makes no direct reference to the probable change in the court's personnel, but his manner and the fact that he insists upon the postponement of important cases leaves little room for doubt that he is of the opinion that there will be a change.

LIBRARY NOTES.

Rev. Granville S. Abbott yesterday donated to the Oakland free library a number of volumes on theology and science. This is the first donation of importance for six years.

Some six years ago Mrs. W. W. Crane, wife of one of the first presidents of the library trustees, donated 390 volumes of German and science.

Secretary Harry Thomas of the Board of Public Works has notified Librarian Henry Peterson that he will shortly make a donation to the library of a number of bound periodicals.

Trustee L. J. Hardy has under consideration the matter of supplying extra copies of periodicals for the ladies' room of the central reading room. Mr. Hardy expresses himself as being in favor of the idea and he will very likely report favorably upon the proposition to the Library Trustees.

Annual Meeting of the American Humane Society in Nashville.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 13.—The twenty-first annual meeting of the American Humane Society began today. There was a good attendance and representatives of the society in many States were present. John G. Shortall of Chicago presided.

President Shortall responded to the addresses of welcome. At the conclusion of the remarks, Mr. Shortall recommended that the papers of the meeting held in Chicago during the World's Fair be published. He also called attention to the donation of Charles A. Brown of Quincy, Ill., who gave $200,000 which was distributed among societies in various States.

The report of the secretary, Francis S. Rowley of Fall River, Mass., showing the work done by the society during the past twelve months showed gratifying progress. In that period 5,456 children and 14,150 animals had been looked after and 9,456 prosecutions made.

The report of the treasurer, E. C. Parmlee of Chicago, was also presented.

Both reports were adopted.

Mrs. Lilly Lord Tifft of Buffalo, N. Y., read a paper on "Animals in Transit and Their Abuse."

The Society then adjourned until 2 P. M., when papers and reports of committees were read. The Society will be in session three days.

WANTED TO PAY TWENTY DOLLARS FOR A RIDE.

A Breweryman on a "Tout Finally Lands in the Police Court.

H. M. Wreden, superintendent of the Washington Brewery of San Francisco, came to Oakland yesterday on business. He met some friends and drinks were in order. At 10 o'clock, much the worse for the beer he had consumed, Wreden started for home. He got as far as the local train, where the guard stopped him. As Wreden had no ticket, the guard refused to allow him to enter the train, and Wreden became angry. He offered to pay the guard $20 for the ride, but the guard was obdurate. Then Wreden became insulting and struck the guard a vicious blow under the ear.

About this time Officer Frank Carson took a hand and led Wreden away, but the brewery man turned on Carson with his abuse and the officer sent him to the city prison in the patrol wagon.

Wreden had several diamonds on his person and $112 in his pocket. After he had cooled off somewhat he put up $31 bail and was released. He was charged with drunkenness and disturbing the peace.

has been brought into this fight more for the benefit of Mr. Hilborn than for any other purpose. This opinion is rapidly gaining ground, and now that Metcalf has appeared as an opponent to Hilborn, the latter's friends are, it is said, disposed to make short work of Davis if Pardee's friends will agree to take up Hilborn rather than Metcalf."

JUDGE GREENE MAY HAVE ASPIRATIONS.

Being Already Mentioned for a Place on the Supreme Bench.

A new element in local politics is the pressure being brought to bear on Judge W. E. Greene to be a candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court. It is argued that his long connection with the Superior bench makes him a natural candidate for the Supreme Court, and that he would be a particularly strong man.

Should Judge Greene decide to try and secure a nomination from the Republican State Convention it will add greatly to local complications. His strong political following will have to take an active part in State politics, and that will necessitate some more local combinations.

GOT A THRASHING IN LIEU OF A BILL.

"Baron" Baroteau Comes to Grief at the Sans Souci House.

The Proprietor's Son Is the Hero of the Hour.

The "Baron" Baroteau, hero of half a dozen mix-ups went through one this morning that it will take years to erase from his memory.

"Baron" Baroteau went to the "Sans Souci," a French lodging house, to collect a bill. He came away with a countenance that a survivor of Balaklava might look upon with envy.

The lodging house is conducted by Captain Permine and his wife, a French couple who have lived in Oakland for several years. The Permines have a son named Fred, a muscular young fellow just merging into manhood, and thereby hangs the story.

When the "Baron" rescued the "Sans Souci" with a small bill from W. A. Rouse & Company, he found that all the Permines were away from home. A young lady, who has charge of the dining room, Miss Whitmore by name, was present, however, and it was with her that the "Baron" started the trouble.

According to the young lady, Baroteau forced his way into the house, and upon learning that none of the family were at home demanded a meal from Miss Whitmore. The young lady agreed to give him a meal if the "Baron" could produce the necessary quarter. He did not produce it, and Miss Whitmore says he abused her from then on till Mrs. Permine put in an appearance.

When Mrs. Permine arrived she asked Baroteau into her parlor and tried to quiet him. She told him that she did not wish to let her son Fred know of his presence, and, hearing Fred in the hall, she locked the parlor door. Then the "Baron" raised his voice.

Fred heard it, and, realizing that something was wrong inside, forced an entrance through a window. As soon as Baroteau saw Fred, the Permines say he drew a revolver. Mrs. Permine caught hold of Baroteau's arm, and she now exhibits a badly bruised wrist and a lacerated forearm as a proof of Baroteau's roughness.

Fred Permine rushed at Baroteau, who, it is said, tried to make his escape, and in his attempts to get out of the room he demolished some of the furniture in the parlor.

Young Permine caught him, however, just as he was going out of the front door, and the rest is more easily imagined than described.

When Permine was taken off the "Baron" the latter was willing to depart.

ARRAIGNMENT DAY.

Many Cases Brought Up and Disposed of in the Courts.

This was arraignment day in the Superior Court and Judge Ogden spent the greater part of the morning in disposing of the cases of criminals charged with a great variety of offenses.

The matter of Gavin Dhu High, charged with criminal libel, was continued for two weeks.

The case of J. O. Hanscom was stricken from the docket. The defendant was at one time the editor of a paper in Berkeley. As such he published an article reflecting on the conduct of a woman named Clara Elliott, which, it was claimed, was libelous. Accordingly, Mrs. Elliott brought suit for criminal libel against Hanscom. Recently the defendant published an article setting forth that he had improperly named in the original article the woman whose conduct he was giving publicity to. The family name of the woman, he declared, was right, but the first name was in error. He therefore declared that he wanted to repair the injury he had done to Clara Elliott by publishing the correction. As a consequence of this retraction, on motion of the District Attorney, the charge against Hanscom was dismissed.

John Jones, charged with stealing a horse valued at $75 had his case continued until November 3rd.

The case against Marco Kalavich was dismissed on the ground that the evidence adduced in the preliminary hearing was insufficient to secure conviction.

The case of J. J. Clecak, charged with selling liquor in violation of the midnight closing ordinance, will come up two weeks hence on submission.

George Allen pleading guilty to petit larceny, having despoiled Ellen Heubach of eighty cents. He will be sentenced to-morrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

The charge of burglary against Barchi Perata and William Marsh has been continued until the 26th inst., to be set. They are accused of having burglarized a house in West Oakland. Another charge of assault against the woman occupant of the house burglarized is pending against then in the Police Court. William Viers, who is also charged as a confederate in both crimes went to trial before Judge Ogden to-day on the charge of burglary.

George Bonide of Pleasanton pleaded guilty to battery on John Uhlman and was sentenced to pay a fine of $400 and in default to spend one day in the county jail for each dollar of the fine.

Police Court Notes.

In the Police Court this morning Judge Allen continued the case of A. J. Read, charged with criminally libeling Tom Ball.

J. Raspiller, the beer bottler, charged with selling liquor without a license, will be tried by jury on October 9th.

Tom Gorman was sentenced to pay a $5 fine or spend three days in jail for being drunk.

A PRISONER ATTEMPTS TO COMMIT SUICIDE.

Wm. Johnson Hangs Himself From the Roller in His Cell.

Is a Confirmed Opium Fiend and Could Not Get Along Without Dope.

One of the prisoners at the City Prison attempted to commit suicide at noon today by hanging himself.

The man's name is William Johnson, a confirmed opium fiend, who was arrested for smuggling the drug into the jail. His cell-mate, Fred Kohler, was asleep at the time. Johnson tore a strip off his blanket, fastened one end to a rafter and kicked away the stool from under his feet.

Kohler woke up at 1 o'clock, saw Johnson, and at once notified the officials. His face had grown black and it took a long time to restore the man to life. Johnson confesses the reason for his act was that he could get no more opium.

MOVING AGAIN TO WIDEN FOURTEENTH.

A Meeting of the Commission Which Has the Work in Hand.

Officers Selected and the Hope of Success Seems to Be General.

A meeting of the commission for the opening and widening of Fourteenth street between Market and Myrtle streets, was held last evening at the office of City Attorney Dow.

This was the first meeting of this commission, which was recently appointed to carry out the improvement.

On the north side of Fourteenth street, and including about half the block from Myrtle toward Market street, the sidewalk is but a few feet in width and is covered by three or four unsightly planks. The adjoining property, which is occupied by dwelling houses, extends out over land which should long ago have been subjected to public use. It has been attempted by numerous City Councils in the past to straighten the line of the sidewalk here. Resolutions of intention have been passed and other steps under the street opening act have been taken, but at some stage of the proceedings the matter has always fallen through. The spirit of public improvement now manifest in the City Council has led it to institute proceedings anew. A commission has been appointed consisting of Chas. R. Allen, S. L. Everett and George Strong.

Last evening they organized by electing S. L. Everett chairman and Chas. R. Allen secretary pro tem. Seth Mann was elected as the attorney and legal adviser of the commission. It is the intention of the commission to proceed at once with its duties with a view to complete its work expeditiously. They decided to examine the property to be taken next Thursday. After transacting some further business the meeting adjourned.

There were present at the meeting Charles R. Allen, S. L. Everett, George Strong, members of the commission, Councilman B. C. Cuvellier, who inaugurated the movement, City Attorney W. A. Dow, Seth Mann, Calvert Meade, E. A. Kluegel, Mr. Belcher, and Mr. Perez, the last being the owner of the property proposed to be taken.

NOLAN ARRESTED AGAIN.

This Time He Is Charged With Being Drunk and Disorderly.

Frank Nolan, the alleged member of the "Sporting Life" gang, whose trial for burglary is pending in the Superior Court and whose preliminary hearing for assaulting Mrs. Lizzie Jones is pending in the Police Court, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Fifth and Myrtle streets by officer Bert Curtiss and Detective St. Clair Hodgkins.

Nolan was with young Ghiradelli, another member of the gang. The men were under the influence of liquor and had been throwing stones at the windows of nearby houses and at people passing by, when the officers were telephoned for by a citizen.

Nolan was caught after an exciting chase, but Ghiradelli succeeded in making good his escape. Judge Allen this morning found Nolan guilty of drunkenness and fined him $5 or three days.

ENGLAND'S ULTIMATUM ON SILVER

Promised for Saturday But It May Be Deferred Till Later.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A London cable to the Evening Post today says:

"I understand that the British government's reply to Senator Wolcott and the other United States bimetallic commissioners is to be given on Saturday after the Cabinet meeting. Meanwhile a memorial to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, is being extensively signed by bankers, discount houses and merchants, protesting against any action in the interests of silver, especially as to the reopening of the Indian mints, until the full sense of Parliament can be taken."

A FIRST-CLASS HOTEL.

The Market-Street House Has Undergone a Thorough Renovation.

The Market Street House, after a thorough renovation is now one of the neatest hotels in the city in point of attractiveness. No money has been spared in bringing the hotel to the standard of a first class boarding house. The location is admirable, car and train lines running within a radius of a few blocks from the hotel. It is conducted under a specially efficient management, and in its new dress will certainly become popular.

J. R. Hite Married.

John R. Hite, a prominent mine owner of Mariposa county was married to-day to Miss Cecilia Nougues of San Francisco. Mr. Hite is a resident of San Francisco, but is one of the most prominent early miners of Mariposa county.

CHADDOCK & CO. GO TO THE WALL.

A Fresno Raisin Packing Firm Crippled by Want of Money.

They Can Pay Only Fifty Cents on the Dollar and Then Want Time.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

FRESNO, Cal., Oct. 13.—Chaddock & Co., heavy buyers of raisins, have been obliged to close their packing houses on account of lack of funds to carry on their business. At a meeting of the firm's creditors today E. G. Chaddock, the head of the firm, stated that they could pay 50 cents on the dollar if given six months' time, and be allowed to pay in installments. F. Lyman, A. C. Williams and Charles Sims were appointed a committee by the creditors to investigate the affairs of the firm and report at a second meeting to be held on Saturday. Chaddock & Co. have paid over $125,000 to the raisin growers since September 1st. Their assets, free from incumbrances, are estimated at $9,000 and their unsecured liabilities at from $15,000 to $20,000. They have borrowed every cent possible on this year's pack. The failure is ascribed to the dullness of the raisin market.

HOODWINKED DETECTIVES.

fellow came running across the wharf. He had no baggage and was fashionably dressed. He walked quickly up the gang plank. The detectives stopped him.

"My name is Juan Sola," he said, and he showed his passport. Everything was satisfactory, so the senor was allowed to go aboard. It is said that if it had not been for the wine the strange and rather curious figure of Senor Sola might have aroused the suspicions of some of the detectives. But the scheme worked nicely. Some of Miss Cisnero's friends, when they saw everything was satisfactory, disembarked and watched the ship pull slowly out of reach of Spanish guns carrying the fugitive to safety under the Stars and Stripes.

Miss Cisneros did not court danger any more than was necessary, and at once went to her cabin. The next day when Moro Castle was left far behind, she appeared on deck, transformed into Senorita Juana Sola, alias Cassio y Cisneros, and dressed in a becoming red gown.

Captain Stevens, commander of the Seneca, was angry when he discussed the Cisneros incident with the reporter. Said he: "Since the commencement of the present insurrection, it has been the custom of the Spanish authorities to post a couple of detectives at the head of the gangway of ships lying at Havana. We arrived at 6 A. M. on Saturday and left at 8 P. M., during which time the detectives did not leave the head of the gang plank. Just before the Seneca sailed, the chief of police, his deputy, and his secretary came aboard. Senorita Cisneros had escaped two days previously and yet they asked no questions and made no search for her, although, upon three former occasions, they had searched the Seneca from stem to stern while looking for suspects."

Captain Stevens said that to the best of his knowledge the only persons who went aboard at Havana were the Lastie family, the Del Real family, eight Chinese and a man whose name appeared on the advance passenger list as Juan Sola and who must have had a passport otherwise he would not have got aboard. When it was discovered that "Juan Sola" was a girl, the "Juan" was changed to Juana and Miss Cisneros came in under that name.

Miss Cisneros was given some articles of feminine wearing apparel by the stewardess of the Seneca.

A Mr. Steward, an Englishman, who embarked at Tampico, said that he sat opposite Miss Cisneros at the table during the voyage, and when she saw the Cape Hatteras light, she fell upon her knees on the deck and prayed devoutly. Mr. Steward said he found the rescued Cuban a most pleasant companion.

She had her hair pinned up in a coil, worn under a sombrero when she embarked disguised as a ranchman.

WINKED AT THE CISNEROS' ESCAPE.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—A special to the Daily News from Kankanee, Ill, says: "J. W. Calhoun of Danville, ex-special commissioner to Cuba, knows enough of the political situation in that island to warrant his belief that Spanish authorities winked at the escape of Miss Cisneros from a Havana prison.

It released the authorities from an unpleasant situation without loss to their pride.

SLIGHT RAINS FALLS NEAR SACRAMENTO.

No Injury, However, Has Been Experienced by the Grapes.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., Oct. 13.—There have been frequent showers during the day, but the rain has not been heavy enough as yet to damage the grapes. There are yet many tons of them on the vines. Reports received here from the Vaca valley section say the rain was very slight not being enough to stop grape-picking. The precipitation was more in the form of mist than rain. The American River district also reports a very slight rain, not enough to do any particular harm, although grape-picking has been stopped. At least two-thirds of the bean crop in the river district remains unthreshed. The present slight storm will not injure it.

JOHNSON MADE A MISTAKE.

His Prisoner Meyers Did Not Rob the Stage at Booneville.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

UKIAH, Cal., Oct. 13.—Chas. Meyers, who was arrested in San Francisco Monday evening and brought to this city last night by Sheriff Johnson, has been released from custody. He was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the robbery of the Booneville stage on September 28th, but established a perfect alibi. Meyers was employed on a farm near Geyserville at the time of the robbery.

STILL IN THE TOILS

The South Suffers From the Presence of Persistent Yellow Jack.

SOME ABATEMENT IS NOTICED.

A Camp for Commercial Men Outside the City of New Orleans.

HOUSTON'S BIG QUARANTINE.

Galveston Rages at It but No Good Can Be Done by It.

By Associated Press to the Tribune.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13.—The Board of Health at 1 P. M. announced seven new cases and five deaths from yellow fever. Marine Hospital representatives went out this morning to the camp above the city, from which laborers will be shipped into the country parishes.

There is under consideration a proposition to allow commercial men who are tied up in the city to go to this camp.

The Board of Health has not up to the present time been able to confirm the report of a death from yellow fever in Plaquaines, the parish in which Sicilian immigrants were landed one day last week.

Fifty-four people have thus far been treated in the isolation hospital and thirty-one patients are there at present.

MOBILE STILL COUNTS ITS FEVER VICTIMS.

Seven More Cases Brought off the Steamer to the Hospital.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 13.—There were seven new cases of yellow fever in the city today and six were brought to the City Hospital from the steamer Kate at Magazine Point. There were no deaths. Twelve people were dismissed today as cured.

HOUSTON'S STAND BLOCKADES BUSINESS.

Galveston Indignant at the Effect of the Enforced Quarantine.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

GALVESTON, Oct. 13.—But for Houston's quarantine, again at midnight, business would have been moving in fine shape today. The international through train to St. Louis left at noon, carrying Dr. Guiteras and only seventeen passengers. Dr. Guiteras says he has been ordered to return. No new cases here today and skeptical doctors still assert that the disease is not yellow fever. The alleged cases are all recovering. Dr. Harrison of Columbus, Texas, is examining the alleged cases. He will make a report to the Board of Health this evening.

A special to the Tribune from Houston says that the people there are indignant at the Board of Health for quarantining Galveston and the City Council is now in session to take action in the matter.

WEDNESDAY.....OCTOBER 13, 1897.

Canada is looking for a way to pay off her floating debt. How about establishing a sinking fund?

The increased taxes are making Rome howl loud enough to be heard the world over. The story of the riot reads something like a chapter of the days of Rienzi.

Eighty million dollars in gold is the estimated mineral output of the United States for the present year. Our prosperity seems to be piling up in all directions.

The color line is being drawn mentally as well as bodily in Illinois. They don't want the negroes there to have the same educational facilities as are extended to white people.

Coxey and Carl Brown are furnishing the burlesque features of the Ohio campaign. It is hard to determine which is the bigger fool but they certainly form a class all by themselves in that regard.

The young lady editor of the Berkeley Gazette says: "It isn't so—there now!" to the Tribune because we made an alleged humorous allusion to the frog farm at West Berkeley. We have no defense to offer. We always take off our hats to the ladies.

A Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals would find lots to do on the Skaguay trail. Hundreds of horses have been abandoned to starve and as the grass is now buried several feet in snow, the unfortunate animals are doomed to a horrible death.

The millenium is at hand. An Indianan had been awarded a pension because of rheumatism contracted in the army. He drew it for a time, but as he recovered from his trouble, he stopped taking the pension money. Recently $350 of accumulated pension was forwarded to him. He sent it back.

A magazine writer predicts that in 300 years only three languages will be spoken in the world—English, Russian and Chinese. Instead of figuring on the survival of the fittest, he figures on the survival of the hardiest. The summary manner in which he disposes of French "the language of polite society," is somewhat anarchistic.

A Sacramento man who is now at Hamburg says that California dried fruits have made a great hit there and that there will in future be a good Continental market for our prunes, apricots, peaches, pears, and nectarines. He issues a warning, though, that shippers must be honest about the quality, age, and weight of their consignments.

Judge Carroll Cook of San Francisco gave a neat little lecture on arson Monday when he very properly sentenced a criminal convicted of the offense to twenty years in the penitentiary—the full penalty possible. A man who for the sake of a few hundred dollars insurance money will deliberately set fire to a house in which human beings are sleeping deserves all the punishment it is possible to give to him.

The action of the Oakland ladies in turning their attention to the improvement of the city is being emulated all over the State. Bakersfield has just had a Woman's Club launched and speaking of it the editor of the Californian says: "If the citizens of this place had the same enthusiasm and energy in the matter of public improvements as is displayed by the Woman's Club, Bakersfield would soon be a more desirable place of residence than it now is."

The severe illness of ex-Queen Lil is a momentous matter for the Hawaiian Royalists. If she should die the throne would be left without any direct descendant and the leverage that has been used on the natives in that regard would therefore be lost. The battle will be fought and won in our Congress anyhow before many more months pass by and it is somewhat astonishing to see how many of the big Eastern papers are lined up to fight against annexation.

King Leopold of Belgium appears to be quite a gay old sport. His little affair with Cleo de Merode had scarcely been heralded when up bobbed a paper in Hamburg with a sensational article showing that the King is a big gambler and not only runs tables of his own but protects those at the watering places. The editor was more truthful than wise, though, for he has been sentenced to eight months imprisonment for lese majesty so that the honor of his sovereign may be vindicated.

The interior papers all throughout the State are commenting on Alameda county's bid for the Gubernatorial honors and judging by the editorial opinions expressed, it is generally conceded that we have the inside of the running. Here is a sample paragraph from the Napa Register: "Alameda county is in earnest when it asks for the Governorship. It is Republican to the core, and wants that kind of man to succeed Budd. The rods are up on two names—two white sons—Davis and Pardee. Which will political lightning strike. Looking at that one and then the other, the motto of the prize banner in Alameda reads: 'How Happy would I be with either, were t'other dear charmer away.'"

A CIVIL SERVICE SCARE.

The summary dismissal of Judson Gibbs, Assistant Cashier of the Customs Department, has given another shock to the Federal officials in this part of the country and they are beginning to wonder where the vaunted protection accorded by the Civil Service rules comes in. The point raised against Gibbs was that he was associated with the prize-fighting tournaments being held in San Francisco, but as his superior officers had told him that he was only responsible to them for his official duties he disregarded the complaint preferred about his pugilistic tendencies and now learns too late that it was a more vital matter than he deemed. The decision removing him brings to light, though, the fact that Civil Service employees are not entrenched as firmly as most of them have been hoping and it is not surprising therefore that a small scare has been created all along the line.

The situation as far as the employees is concerned is depressed still further by the telegraphic advices from England regarding an upheaval in the Civil Service regulations there. It is to England that those defending the system have always pointed when they wanted to illustrate how well it worked. The Civil Service employees of Great Britain were supposed to be a model of the methods involved and their positions have always been regarded as practically impregnable. Recently, though, some of them got up a movement for shorter hours, and after preparing a petition presented it to the head of their service. The reply was a crushing blow not only to their hopes but to the security of their tenure of office. They were told in just so many words that no contract existed by which the Government was compelled to retain them and that their Civil Service certificates simply amounted to the fact that they were competent to fulfill the duties required of them. However, concluded the ultimatum, they were only to consider themselves employed at the pleasure of the chiefs of departments and their services could be dispensed with at any time.

This is a very surprising declaration and those who are working under Civil Service rules in this country are a little fearful lest it have some effect on the opinions of the authorities here. The theory that a Federal employe is "always entitled to a trial before he is removed seems to have been shattered in the Gibbs case, and although it is not thought that any general breaking down of the barriers is liable to occur, still none of those under Civil Service feel that they have got any firmer grip on their places than the representatives of the administration are willing to accord to them.

RECOGNITION OF MERIT.

One of the most gratifying pieces of news that has come to the Pacific Coast recently is the confirmation of the rumor that on the retirement of Justice Field from the Supreme Court of the United States the vacancy will be filled by Attorney-General McKenna of this State. This appointment is in line with President McKinley's evident desire to fully recognize the coast in a substantial and permanent manner. Attorney-General McKenna, both by ability and taste, is well fitted to take a place upon the nation's highest court. His experience in Congress, in the Circuit Court and in the President's Cabinet naturally places him in the line of appointment to one of the highest judicial offices in the gift of the President.

By such appointment Mr. McKinley adds to the dignity of his administration.

San Diego's desire for municipal revenue led the Council to request the City Attorney to prepare an ordinance fixing licenses for tape games, nickel-in-the-slot machines and bucket shops. That official, however, declines to do so on the ground that all the devices in question are forms of gambling. As, however, they are all plying openly in San Francisco practically under the protection of the courts, there are evidently some fine points of law that the San Diegan has overlooked.

It is poor policy for these Eastern theatrical managers to be continually calling San Francisco a jay town. The trouble with them is that we have got over being jay and know a good company when we see it. So they don't get a chance to palm off on us any more second-raters under the guise of stars.

That long-boomed concert of the Powers at the Golden Horn is at an end and the players have disbanded. The only thing in that line that is going on nowadays comes from the Sultan who is whistling for the money he was to get from Greece.

Thirteen more acts of the last Legislature are shaking on the score of constitutionality. Considering what a lot of lawyers are in both the Senate and Assembly, it seems strange that they cannot pass laws that will stand the test of the courts.

Luetgert's attorneys are trying to adopt his sausage-making methods in court by attempting to run a skin game. Their witnesses, though, are not holding up very well under fire and a verdict of guilty seems in the air.

The recent experiences of some of the football teams as regards their coaches shows that the gentlemen in question might more appropriately be termed drags.

What has become of our international yacht races? We ought not to surrender so peaceably the opportunity to give Johnny Bull a good doing-up every year.

What a Change!

I once knew an old English lady who saw Napoleon's Marie Louise and Caroline, Princess of Wales, at Berne. She said they were both of caricatural ugliness. Caroline had a harsh, though fleshy, mask-like face, utterly devoid of expression, and a fat, short, shapeless and massive figure. Marie Louise had high shoulders and an absurdly short trunk—a defect that her flimsy clothes did not at all hide. The eyebrows ran up high into the temples, and the eyes, in following, did not keep pace with them. The under lip was coarse, thick and falling, and the corners of her mouth descended with it. Her complexion was clear enough, but rude pink and white. She had a good mezzo-soprano voice. Napoleon, who so often fought with Josephine about her bills, thought Marie Louise could never spend money enough on elegant clothing. Her things looked untidy on her. Caroline remarked to her as she descended from her carriage to pay her a visit: "My dear, your blind cupid who attends you must have pressed your neck too freely. All your lace frills are rumpled." The blind cupid was Neipperg. He had lost an eye and was forty-nine.—London Daily News.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Pretty and effective lamp shades that can be readily changed when soiled are made from the little Japanese or Chinese umbrellas. These can be bought for a few cents at any of the Japanese stores. A round hole is cut in the center to fit the globe, and the whilom umbrella is tied into position with a piece of baby ribbon.

In wiping china dishes do not pile one upon another while still hot. Spread out to cool off, then pack. Piling together while warm is apt to make the glaze crack.

While the winter's supply of pickles is being put up a new wrinkle to many housekeepers is that apples make a delicious sweet pickle. Cut the apples in halves, leaving on the stem as well as the skin—or simply core if preferred. Put two or three cloves in each half apple. Make a syrup, allowing three pounds of sugar and one pint of vinegar to every six pounds of apples. Put the apples in and cook until you can pierce them with a straw.

After using the wringer the screw should be loosened, that the cylinders may not become flattened, the cogs wiped dry and then wiped over with a cloth wet in kerosene. Tals will clean them. If the machine works hard, pour a little kerosene over the cog wheels and turn the machine several times, then wipe the cogs with a clean cloth. After this put a few drops of machine oil on the cogs and work the wringer for a few moments.

When shaking heavy rugs, hold from the sides, never the ends. If possible, spread on clean grass or boards with the wrong side up, beat first to dislodge the dirt, then brush thoroughly and hang on the line to air, using judgment about leaving too long in the hot sun. This is the method employed by the Turks, who should be connoisseurs in the care of rugs.

The health inspectors of Jersey City, spurred to the fulfillment of their official duties by the women of that city, have at last risen to the occasion and passed an ordinance making expectoration on the floors or platforms of trolley or horse cars or public conveyances of any kind punishable by the imposition of a $10 fine. As America is the only country of any kind where the spitting nuisance flourishes unchecked, it is hoped that, in the interests of health, decency and, incidentally, gowns, the women will continue to incite the officials to renewed diligence in this regard.

THE JOURNEY.

I think of death as some delightful journey
That I shall take when all my tasks are done.
Though life has given me a heaping measure
Of all best gifts, and many a cup of pleasure,
Still better things await me further on.

This little earth is such a merry planet,
The distances beyond it so supreme,
I have no doubt that all the mighty spaces
Between us and the stars are filled with faces
More beautiful than any artist's dream.

I like to think that I shall yet behold them,
When from this waiting room my soul has soared.
Earth is a wayside station, where we wander
Until from out the silent darkness yonder
Death swings his lantern and cries "All aboard!"

I think death's train sweeps through the solar system
And passes suns and moons that dwarf our own,
And close beside us we shall find our dearest,
The spirit friends on earth we held the nearest,
And in the shining distance God's great throne.

Whatever disappointment may befall me
In plans or pleasures in this world of doubt,
I know that life at worst can but delay me,
But no malicious fate has power to stay me
From that grand journey on the Great Death Route.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox in Baltimore American.

BICYCLE NOTES.

When the World Becomes Overpeopled.—"In about 260 years," said the scientist, "when the world's population exceeds 5,994,000,000, the earth will be unable to find nourishment for her people, and they will be forced either to cannibalism or starvation."

"And just think, papa," said the daughter, "what trouble there'll be for us to get through the crowds on the bicycles."—Yonkers Statesman.

Short of Everything but Wheel.—When the Postmaster of Hoboken, N. J., came to examine a case of destitution the other day, he found a new bicycle in the place. It belonged to the daughter of the house. He very naturally advised the sufferers to sell the wheel.

A Significant Fact.—"Barber's wife is rather the boss of the outfit, isn't she?"

"I would not like to say so positively. But I do know that they have only two wheels, and one is a woman's and the other is a tandem."

Down on Bicycling.—In a public address at his home in Crawfordsville, Ind., General Lew Wallace declared that the best appearing man was the one who had received a military training. He gave the bicyclers a sharp rap during his talk, saying that they resembled monkeys more than men. He greatly depreciated the popular custom of wheeling.

A Partial Conversation.—Mrs. Cumso—Dear, do you think your health has been improved by riding the wheel?

Mr. Cumso—You bet! I have a digestion like an ostrich, sound wind and the strength of a horse. I tell you the wheel is a great thing.

Mrs. Cumso—Oh, how glad I am that your strength has been increased. Would you mind bringing in a hod of coal?

A knowledge of the limitations of the linotype machines and an unwillingness to shock the sensitive nerves of many readers prevent further details of the conversation. There is already too much invasion of the family circle by a venal press.—Omaha World-Herald.

A JOKE OR TWO.

"My daughter is very spiritual; she kept up her church work through all the hot weather."

"What kind of church work?"

"She went to the seashore and came home engaged to a clergyman."—Chicago Record.

"Haven't saw you for some time," said the Ossified Man. "Been on a vacation?"

"Why, not exactly," said the Only Living Female Skeleton. "I have been doing some posing for a feller that was getting up 'fashion plates.'"—Indianapolis Journal.

Weary Wayworn—Dem miners wot wuz killed at Hazleton ain't got no one ter blame but demselves.

Tired Tom—How kin yer figger it out dat way, Weary?

Weary Wayworn—Jus' dis way: If dey hadn't never worked dey wouldn't hev gone on a strike. See? It was strikin' that brought all de trouble. I ain't never goin' to run no such chances, which is why I never work.—Omaha World-Herald.

His Hope.—The Burglar—Me lawyer is tryin' to put off de trial as long as he kin.

Friend—What for?

The Burglar—Well, what I took was silver, an' silver's goin' down so fast dat de offense 'll soon seem trifflin'.—Puck.

Every man thinks he has more big trials and every woman thinks she has more little worries than anybody else.—New York Press.

Probably Mr. Shakespeare never went to a bank cashier to have a piece of paper discounted, or he would have known "what's in a name?"—New York Mail and Express.

IF I WERE YOU.

If I a little girl could be,
Well—just like you,
With lips as rosy, cheeks as fair,
Such eyes of blue, and shinning hair,
What do you think I'd do?
I'd wear so bright and sweet a smile,
I'd be so loving all the while,
I'd be so helpful with my hand,
So quick and gentle to command,
You soon would see
That every one would turn to say:
"'Tis good to meet that child today.
Yes, yes, my dear, that's what I'd do
If I were you.

Or, if I chanced to be a boy,
Like some I know;
With crisp curls sparkling in the sun,
And eyes all beaming bright with fun—
Ah, if I could be so,
I'd strive and strive with all my might
To be so true, so brave, so polite,
That in me each one might behold
A hero—as in days of old.
'Twould be a joy
To hear one, looking at me, say:
"My cheer and comfort all the day."
Yes, if I were a boy I know
I would be so!

But now, perhaps, you'd ask of me:
When it was you
Who had the young and merry face,
With smiles and roses all in place.
Tell us, what did you do?"
Ah, dearies! If I ever fell
Far short of doing wisely, well—
It was, you see,
Because none ever took the time
To tell me in such lovely rhyme
What I should now rejoice to do
If I were you.

FOR THE GOOD DRESSER.

Some new cycling gloves with silk backs and leather palms have been brought out, but the silk is too warm for a hot, sunny day. The real doeskin is, after all, the best for cycling, as it holds its shape, cleans easily, and will stand the hardest grip of the handle bar. Imitation of doeskin is worse than nothing, but good leather is to be found at a reasonable price and will wear for a long time.

A buff-colored cloth bicycle gown has its double seams strapped with black. The full divided skirt is marked by three black pearl buttons near the top of each seam. The waist is basque-shaped, fitting smoothly and closely, and is decorated with double seams. Three black pearl buttons fasten over a heart-shaped plastron of fine batiste, covered with tiny frills of Valenciennes lace.

Grass-green satin-covered with black mousseline de soie is one of the most popular things of the summer. An effective white chiffon gown is gathered down each seam, on to its white taffeta foundation, where appear trails of pearls and crystal passementerie.

Gowns of white satin, trimmed with clouds of chiffon, yards of passementerie and clusters of artificial flowers, are seen frequently at the English races this summer.

The newest shirts for morning wear are trimmed with white frills on a colored foundation; for instance, a very neat model of pale green or mauve or crimson linen would have the central box-plait of white cambric and the frills of the same at each side, with cuffs and collar of white linen.

The beretta hat still holds its sway over feminine affection, and with the addition of increasingly large ospreys. An elaborate edition of the style made of green mousseline de soie has been figuring at an Eastern watering place. A large blue bird, with outstretched wings and tail erect, is fixed in front. Behind this an immense aigrette of Paradise feathers nods engagingly over a cluster of amber roses which rests on the hair. Another notable hat is of shot crimson taffeta under black mousseline de soie. A rolled drapery of both materials composes the brim. A high cluster of crimson and pink roses turns up the leaf on one side, behind which a very high tuft of goura feathers dyed black shows bravely. The tendency to extreme height in hat trimmings is especially noticeable abroad.

The British Californian.

A sample copy of the British Californian has been received at this office. It is published monthly and is in every way creditable in carrying out the purposes which it has in view, claiming to be the representative paper of 50,000 British born subjects in California. It comprises eighteen pages, the latest news of the British-American societies, items of general interest to its readers, biographical sketches of leading citizens, picturesque views of California, and a manly discussion of subjects of public interest and importance. The current number contains a portrait and biographical sketch of D. Edward Collins of this city. The paper is edited by Chas. B. Sedgwick.

Can't Eat

This is the complaint of thousands at this season. They have no appetite; food does not relish. They need the toning up of the stomach and digestive organs, which a course of Hood's Sarsaparilla will give them. It also purifies and enriches the blood, cures that distress after eating and internal misery only a dyspeptic can know, creates an appetite, overcomes that tired feeling and builds up and sustains the whole physical system. It so promptly and efficiently relieves dyspeptic symptoms and cures nervous headaches, that it seems to have almost "a magic touch."

THE BOMBSHELL DID NOT BURST.

No Action Taken With Regard to the Council's Suggestions.

Affairs of the Fire Department Are Not Discussed Today.

The alleged "dictation" of the Council in directing the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners to discharge Foreman W. B. Smith of chemical engine No. 1 was not discussed at the meeting of the Board this morning. When the Council resolution was read there was a momentary silence and then Commissioner Clement suggested that the matter be referred to the committee of the whole. It was evident that the Board did not care to have its discussion made public.

Chief Lloyd reported that Officers Andrews, Stahl, Petersen, Murphy, Cooney, Jacobus, Williams, Sill, Scanlan, Henderson and Hynes had been off duty during September on account of illness.

The application of W. J. Gamble for a position as extraman of the fire department was filed.

The following communication was received from Chief of Police Lloyd:

"Gentlemen:—It is very essential that police officers should know what to do in cases where persons receive injury, or become suddenly ill upon any officer's beat and may need prompt attention pending the arrival of the wagon and surgeon, and in cases where prompt and intelligent action on the part of the police officer might result in saving life, or at least much unnecessary suffering. To that end I have consulted with the city Health officer, and we have revised the accompanying instructions, suitable to the facilities at our command in this city, and I would recommend to your Honorable Board that you allow the accompanying requisition, which calls for the printing of 300 copies in convenient form for the pocket, said printing to be done at an expense not to exceed $15. Each officer will then be required to carry a copy with him as a part of his paraphernalia, and I believe that good results will follow."

The requisition for the instructions was approved.

Chief Fair of the fire department reported that Firemen William Ennis and Steve Towne were off on their vacations.

He also reported that he had suspended William Hurl for five days for not attending drill and that Louis Hoffman had laid off on account of illness.

The Chief of the Fire Department was directed to loan an extra hose cart to the Temescal Volunteer Fire Department.

The Borghese Villa.

The fact that the government of Italy has decided to buy the Borghese villa and all its pictures and statuary proves that the powers appreciate the value of this historic treasure house and park, and that the great collection of works of art begun before 1800 by Marco Antonio Borghese is to be preserved intact as one of the permanent attractions of Rome. The purchase is reported to have been a joint transaction of the royal government and the city government, the former agreeing to pay $1,200,000 for the collections and the latter agreeing to pay $60,000 for the real estate. This action is enterprising, enlightened and sagacious. The Borghese villa has for a century been one of the greatest artistic magnets of Rome, and it is the finest of all the villas established by the early popes. When the Borghese family were declared bankrupt in 1892 it was feared that the collections would be entirely dispersed; but this result is now happily averted. The collection, begun during the eighteenth century by Marco Antonio Borghese, was continued by his son, Prince Camillo, who married Napoleon's sister, and who sold to the French many of the best works acquired by his father. Although none of the antique marble is of very great importance, the collection is admitted to be the most valuable private collection in the world. The statues which now adorn the interior of the palace were formerly scattered through the park, in accordance with the universal custom of the last century, when statuary was looked upon mainly as an adornment of gardens and parks, and was seldom seen indoors. Among the most famous pictures in the collection is Titian's early work, "Sacred and Profane Love," also his "Cupid and Venus." Raphael's "Entombment," Correggio's "Danae," together with examples of most of the artists of the Renaissance.—Boston Evening Post.

A Clever Device.

There is a novel little convenience in most of the German railway stations which might be adopted by the railways of the United States. Passengers for suburban stations, instead of going to the regular ticket office and standing in line for several minutes, sometimes so long that they miss their train, can go to an automatic box and by dropping a nickel in the slot or a coin equivalent to the amount of the fare can supply themselves with a ticket in an instant. There are rows of these boxes erected against the wall in convenient locations. The name of the town is painted in large letters and underneath the price of the ticket. If it happens to be a mark you slip the coin into the slot and press the button and a cardboard ticket falls into the receiver, which the passenger picks up, passing on without the slightest delay. The whole transaction does not occupy half a minute and the automatic machine never makes a mistake in the ticket or the change.

There is a similar arrangement for securing tickets to the platform. If you go to see a friend off you must leave him at the gate or pay a few cents for the privilege of accompanying him to the train. You get a platform ticket from one of these nickel-in-the-slot machines. The government is said to derive a revenue of several million marks annually from this source alone.

The Monn Inquest.

Coroner Baldwin last evening held an inquest on the remains of Otto Monn, who committed suicide in the Berkeley hills Saturday night. The jury brought in a verdict of death due to an overdose of prussic acid administered by his own hand with suicidal intent. Monn was a native of Germany and had no relations on the coast. He has lived in San Francisco for several years.

The Chainless Bicycle.

A repreeentative of the Providence Journal appears to have learned some interesting facts about the coming wheel and the ideas of its makers.

It seems that the chainless models of 1898 will be little different from the wheels of that sort which have been on exhibition during the present year. Practical tests have resulted in minor changes in the original design, but the shaft and bevel gear remain. There are, however, two distinct ways of employing the gear. One is to have the main driving cogwheel on the end of the crank axle close to the bearing; and another is to have the cogwheel midway between the two bearings, or in the center of the axle. By the latter arrangement an equal amount of pressure is supposed to be borne by each bearing. To add to the wheel's rigidity, its lower forks and rear stays have been reinforced. These modifications may help to overcome the fear of mechanics that in chainless wheels the frame is too frail to stand the strain imposed upon it.

In the chainless bicycle of 1898 the question of friction is important. A rider of the ordinary bicycle must frequently tighten his chain because of the wear upon it, whereas it is asserted that the chainless wheel may be run from 10,000 to 20,000 miles without any attention whatever being given to its adjustment. Little oil is required, and, as the gear is wholly encased, no dust or dirt can interfere with its movement. The weight of the new wheel for road use will be about twenty-nine pounds, or several pounds heavier than this year's chain variety.

It is estimated that the new chainless wheels will be sold for considerably more than $100—perhaps $125. It will be necessary for the public to give the machines a good test before being able to say what they are worth, but it must be admitted that the day of high-priced bicycles has gone by, and wheelmen are firm in their demand for lower prices.

The traveling cloak, which has usually been a creation too hideous to be adopted very generally, has evolved into a thing of actual beauty. One recently was seen of light gray cloth, lined with pale yellow brocade. Pink flounces of cloth edged the neck and front opening, and in the midst of these ruffles ran a fall of butter-colored Chantilly lace; a stole-like arrangement of brocade, in which gray, yellow and green blended, gave the finishing touch to this smart wrap.

VIEWS ON PUBLIC PARKS.

Citizens Express a Variety of Interesting Ideas.

SOME FIGURES ARE QUOTED.

One Writer Says Oakland Has Always a Hobby on Hand.

EDITOR BELL'S CONTRIBUTION.

All Have Their Own Beliefs as to Which Tract Should Be Bought.

The question of a public park for this city has brought out many expressions of opinion. Several tracts have been mentioned and the City Council has taken a hand in the matter and will shortly meet to consider the report of a committee appointed to inquire into the subject and to view the several localities.

Among the letters written on the subject to the Tribune are the following:

OAKLAND IS ALWAYS CHASING SOMETHING.

Views of a Correspondent Who Is a Little Inclined to Be a Pessimist.

Editor Tribune:—The citizens of Oakland, taken as a whole, are a queer set. We seem to be mere creatures of impulse rather than of sound judgment. About once in two or three years we have a new hobby, and we ride that for a time, and spend some money on it, and much wind and ink discussing it, and then drop it—and in a short time forget that we ever advocated it. A few few years since a large first class hotel was "the thing" above all others that Oakland must have if we were to prosper, and some of our citizens were ready to trade off our City Hall Park that we might have that hotel—that necessary thing for our growth and prosperity.

A little later and the great intercepting sewer was the hobby. Without it Oakland must become a very unhealthy place, and our then Councilmen immediately imported from the East, at considerable expense, a man of great reputation to give us his opinion, and he said we needed it badly, told us just how it ought to be done and what it would cost—and from that day till now no one has "peeped" on the intercepting sewer question. And next we wanted a boulevard around Lake Merritt, and a commencement was made, and the work paid for, and another contract was let when another Council came to the front, paid the contractors a large bonus to give up a contract he would have gladly surrendered, and we have no boulevard.

And next it was the opening of streets to the water front. We needed more wharves, and Grove street was opened to the water front, and a wharf was built—some people say illegally—a wharfinger was appointed, whose business seems to be keeping the wharf clean, no business is done there—but then it was wharves we needed. At about that time it was discovered that the city, and not the individuals or co-operation from whom the city had been collecting taxes, that owned that water front, and a suit was commenced and some seventy or seventy-five thousand dollars spent, and our Supreme Court has just decided that the city has legally collected those taxes for forty years or so, from individuals and corporations, and what have we to show for the money spent? A decision which tells us very plainly that the city of Oakland has no interests in the water front excepting the very small interest she acquired in 1860, and which has been used for the city since that date. So much for the past.

And now what about the future? We have another hobby. We must bond the city for $300,000 or more to buy a piece of land out in the country, with no facilities for getting there, at a price much higher than any individual or corporation would pay, and put a positive plaster upon every piece of property in this city of not less than $40,000 or $50,000 per year for many years to come—for if we buy the property we must pay the debt, and if we are to make a park there we must spend twenty or thirty thousand dollars per year to make a park of it.

Let me suggest to our citizens that just now we devote our spare money to improvements inside of our city. We are trying, and very properly, at quite a large expense, to build a park at West Oakland. We have a park in East Oakland of some ten or twelve acres, and we have numerous small parks and a partially built boulevard between East and West Oakland. Let us care for them. First before we go in to the real estate business and buy country property, so far away that our city, even if very prosperous, could not reach it for years.

I have said nothing about our "Greater Oakland" which about 1,600 or 1,700 of our voters out of some 10,000, thought a "pressing necessity" to our prosperity. For one I have never been able to see of what use to Oakland that annexed district can be, but on the contrary, I see and know that for every policeman, every fireman, every engine house furnished them, we pay eleven dollars of the expense where they pay one dollar—that being about the ratio of property in old Oakland and the new part. I hope the Tribune will call the attention of our citizens to some of these suggestions, and in that line inquire for what amount that proposed park is now assessed.

PIONEER.

A BUSINESS MAN TALKS ABOUT PARKS.

Goes Into Details About Prices of Tracts Now Being Offered.

Now that the proposition of bonding the city for a park is fairly before the people, it seems to me, that every one who is acquainted with the needs of our city should give this matter their best attention. Two places have been mentioned more than all others. One is what is known as the Sather Tract, the other what is known as Rockridge Park. While the latter is a very fine piece of property, yet unless Oakland desires to purchase a park for the benefit of Berkeley, this latter location should not be considered. From the center of Rockridge Park to the Berkeley line is but 4800 feet. To the City Hall of Oakland it is 16,000 feet, while to Twenty-third avenue station it is 24,000 feet. As Oakland does not intend to bond itself for the benefit of Berkeley, it is not at all likely that the people will vote to purchase a site so far removed from those for whom it is being purchased.

The Sather Tract is without a doubt the ideal location for a park for Oakland. Situated midway between the lines of the new Greater Oakland, it can be reached from all parts with very little trouble. It is just about the right size, would make a grand park, and should be purchased by the city, provided it could be purchased in the same way, and for the same amount that a private individual would buy it. That would be to pay for it just what it would be worth. There is but one way to figure out what a place like this is worth, and that is to do it from a real estate proposition standpoint. How would it divide for city purposes. A piece of perfectly level land can be divided so as to make at the outside from four to five lots each 40 by 130 to 140 feet. And lots placed on the market in outside tracts must have more depth to them than lots close inside will have, so that in outside tracts there will not average over 180 feet frontage to the acre after allowing for streets, etc.

Subdivide a tract on the outside today, and no syndicate of purchasers would pay over $4 per front foot for it; that will make but $720 per acre, and that would be a good price to pay for a piece of land as large as the Sather Tract. When it is taken into consideration that in laying out a tract for city lots that there will be fully one-fourth to one-fifth of it that can never be utilized for any purpose, and also that it costs to put a tract in shape to sell from $800 to $1200 per acre, it can be seen that when a tract of 300 acres is offered for sale, it cannot be estimated or valued at more than from $600 to $700 per acre, and this would be a fair and just estimate of the value of such a large tract of land. At this price it would be a good buy for the city, and would be a good sale for the owners, and I believe would be more than any body of investors would be willing to pay for the same land. I have known the property for over twenty years and while the cutting of the price to this figure might result in cooling off the ardor of many of those who are so persistent in inducing the city to make this purchase yet it is every dollar that the land can be figured at, at present values. Land to-day in Oakland between Thirty-sixth and Forty-sixth streets can be purchased from $6 to $10 per foot. Here the streets have all been laid out and graded, why then should the city be asked to pay more than $4 per foot for outside unbroken, rolling and hill land?

Our city, county, and State tax today is less in this county than in any other county in the State, except San Francisco. But as the times are hard every move should be toward reducing taxes. Let us first form a city and county of Oakland. Never mind if Berkeley and Alameda do not come in. Take in all of Oakland as far east as Elmhurst. Then our taxes will be reduced to a level with San Francisco. Instead of building a new City Hall we can use the Court House for a City Hall, and people will then be willing to add a small tax for park and boulevard purposes, if it is going to be expended as a business man would expend his money.

JAS. S. NAISMITH.

JOHN T. BELL SEES BEAUTY AT ROCKRIDGE.

The "Saturday Press" Editor Has Some Very Pronounced Views.

Editor Tribune:—One very important advantage which would result from the purchase of the Rockridge tract for a park consists in the fact that a considerable portion of it is a park already, on which not less than $50,000 has been expended in the planting of trees and shrubbery, the laying out of walks and drives, the putting in of a water plant, etc. It would take a quarter of a century or more of time to put an undeveloped tract in the condition the Rockridge property is today. Indeed, it is only a lack of knowledge on the part of Oakland citizens as to the charms, natural and artificial, of this property, which prevents a practically united demand for its purchase by the city. In addition to its other attractions, its climatic advantages are such that the most wonderful results in the line of tropical growth can there be attained and it can be easily converted into a public park unsurpassed in the world, and from a cold-blooded dollars-and-cents point of view pleasure grounds with an international reputation pay enormous dividends to the cities possessing them. Oakland ought to be the leading winter resort in the State for tourists and people of wealth, and a splendid park like that this property could be converted into at trifling expense would be an important factor in giving this city that distinction with its attendant financial gain.

The Lake Merritt boulevard should be improved, the wooded tract of the Adams property bordering on the lake should be secured by gift, if possible, and developed. Independence Square in East Oakland should be improved and there should be a grand boulevard up Indian Gulch and around down Cemetery Creek (and every foot of land needed for this boulevard should be donated), but the main park,—the park which would be talked about all over the United States and throughout Europe—should be located out to the northward and include the Livermore and Eastland tracts of about seventy-five acres, and portions of the Crocker, Merrill and Dingee tracts adjoining, comprising about 250 acres in all.

Here is a list of names of representative citizens who are enthusiastic in their advocacy of the Rockridge tract for a public park: O. I. Denison, W. E. Barnard, Dr. E. G. Brinckerhoff, A. S. Macdonald, A. L. Pryal, W. I. Reed, Major J. E. McElrath, D. Edward Collins, Jas. P. Taylor and Capt. Wright. The prospect for securing the support of the voters in behalf of the park enterprise is very encouraging, but it is important that no mistake should be made as to location, and there should be a large attendance at the meeting to be held at the City Hall tomorrow night.

JOHN T. BELL.

DON'T WANT HOG WALLOWS.

A Plea for a Park Where Nature Has Naturally Made One.

Editor Tribune:—When Mr. Bruguiere offered the City Council the grand Sather tract for $860,000 I felt confident that but little was then in the way of Oakland having a park in keeping with her splendid prospects. The price was fair and the property met every requirement, but it seems that we are the same old Oakland after all, and it now looks as if we were not to have a park, or if we do, it will be on lines so lacking in grandeur that we had best abandon the move until a few more of our silurians pass away. There are as many propositions now before us for parks as there are men in the city who are willing to sacrifice its property for their own private profit. Ranch property seven miles from the city is offered and insisted on by real estate speculators, and in their efforts to further their own schemes the beautiful Sather property is roundly denounced and decried. Tracts of land hardly fit for cow pastures have partisans, who are beyond doubt closely allied to a commission. This will never do. We can not get a park this way, for to attempt to shove aside the Sather tract for a hog hollow or a cow pasture will meet with defeat at the polls and delay the park scheme for twenty years. I recall the time when the City Hall property was purchased. Those gentlemen who made the deal were denounced from one end of the town to the other. Time has vindicated them and the kickers of that day are forced to bow their heads in recognition to the wisdom and prudence of the purchase. So with the Sather tract. Land on all sides of it has been selling for a greater price and for its owner to subdivide it, he could realize in five years four times what he now asks. The Council, in my judgment, must rise equal to the present occasion. It cannot please everybody and especially those who are out for profit, and this should be a transaction of local patriotism and pride. By all means submit the Sather proposition. It is the only one so far mentioned worthy ever of consideration. If it passes we will have a beautiful park at a fair price. If it does not we will know where to place the responsibility.

Respectfully,

J. W. N.

FAVORS THE SATHER TRACT.

A Correspondent Points Out the Beauties of the Landscape.

Editor Tribune—The proposition of having a public park in the city of Oakland seems to be one that most all of us can agree upon—at least, I believe there are two-thirds of us of one mind.

This point being settled, a new difficulty has arisen—and that is, which of the particular sites submitted shall we accept. I have looked the situation over carefully, and have come to the conclusion that there is but one project before the people worthy of consideration—that is, Mr. Bruguiere's proposition to sell to the city the Sather tract for $860,000. For a park such as it would be, this price is indeed cheap—nevertheless I am pained to see that it is encountered on every side with shafts of malice and opposition.

The land lies beautifully. None who have been on it have for a moment failed to express the hope that the city would acquire it. That there has been a difference of opinion as to price there is no doubt, and in my partisanship to the Sather tract I do not wish to do an injustice to the gentlemen who are engineering the scheme to unload what is known as the Rockridge deal on the city—that property is too far away. It is without the limits of the city, and the amount of money that it will require to make it presentable, even, as a park, is more than we can afford.

The Simpson property is too far away.

The silly idea of "a chain of parks" is just what we could expect from the old and fossilized Oaklander—he wants a little improvement here where he has some interest, a little improvement there where he has more interest, and a little improvement some other place where he has still further interest. The result is an expenditure of a large sum of money, and when we are all through we have nothing.

The Sather tract embraces something like 300 acres. It is within a mile and a half of the City Hall. It lies so that all our street railroad lines would be glad to make connections with it. It is entirely within the limits of the city; it is contiguous to Lake Merritt, which, when boulevarded, will be one of the handsomest spots in the world. The Realty Syndicate has generously, and with an eye to business, offered a handsome donation of contiguous property. The view from the high points of the Sather tract cannot be surpassed in the world. The lowlands and sheltered places are romantic and beautiful—it is just the place—and if we lose the opportunity Mr. Bruguiere has offered us we will never get it again. It is said by some that the price is too high. I personally do not believe that it is. The property within 200 yards of it is valued at $5,000 an acre. Property to the north and east of it has sold for $2,000 an acre. Property to the west of it is considered cheap at twice the price Mr. Bruguiere asks. By all means, let us accept the Sather tract proposition and go to work at once and improve it. I believe there are one hundred men in this city who would gladly contribute $1,000 apiece to beautify it; that would mean $100,000 this winter to our laboring masses.

That we all cannot agree is certain, and that there are no two real estate men in town of the same mind is as certain as their diversified personal interests. The Council now have the people in the right mood. There has so far been no scandal connected with the proposition, and I have no doubt that Mr. Bruguiere means exactly what he says—that there are no middle men in his offer, and that he is dealing directly with the city. Let us submit the Sather tract to the people—it can do no harm. The price is a very small factor, and the benefits that the city will accrue within twelve months cannot be calculated. I know how hard it is to do anything in Oakland, and the class of men who are now to the front advocating various propositions are those who never make a move in a public direction unless they have some personal end to subserve. Two years from now we will not be able to acquire the Bruguiere property for twice what it is now offered for.

Of all the propositions before the Council it is the only one possessing merit enough to entitle it to respectful consideration. It is free of real estate entanglements, it is beautiful, it is cheap, and as a park will be the equal of any in America possessed by a city of the size of Oakland. The poor man may go there on a Sunday or holiday at little or no expense; the rich man will find the drives and other inducements all that he could desire. Do not let the opportunity pass to acquire it for the sake of appeasing the small cranks of the town who cannot see any merit in anything that they do not make money out of.

The Sather tract, if changed into a park, will only be the forerunner of the boulevard, of an elegant hotel on the highlands at Piedmont, of improvement of the Lake Shore property, which is now an eyesore and a disgrace. All of our street railroads, with little expense, can lay their iron bands to its gate. It will create a boom in Oakland both in real estate and labor such as we have not had for years. Can this much be said of any or all of the other park propositions offered?

I remember when the City Hall property was bought; the men responsible for it were roundly denounced. It was said that they paid four times for the property what it was worth, but there were none in the neighborhood who would sell their property a dollar cheaper. Time has justified the purchase of this property. The same thing applies to this Sather property. Time will justify its purchase if the city sees fit to take the step. Neither time, wit nor common sense would justify the purchase of any of the other tracts offered. The "chain of parks" idea is so absurd that I will not dignify it by giving it serious mention.

Do open your columns and advocate this splendid offer, and before one year passes I am sure you will receive the blessings of thousands of the people.

Very respectfully, C. D. P.

DRAWS THE LINE AT EIGHT ROUNDS.

Chicago's Executive Objects to Boxing Bouts of Long Duration.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Promoters of twenty-round boxing contests will have to pull off their shows in some other place than Chicago if Mayor Harrison adheres to his present policy.

"Twenty-round contests will be tabooed, eight rounds under strict police regulations being the limit to which these contests may be carried," says the Mayor. "I will not grant a permit for a twenty-round boxing contest, as it savors too strongly of a prize fight, and prize fighting could not be tolerated. I see no harm, however, in short boxing matches conducted under the supervision of the police."

The Mayor's views were provoked by the advertisement of a twenty-round contest between Griffo and Garrard a week from Saturday next.

A delightful hot drink may be made with the famous old Jesse Moore Whiskey and the usual hot water, sugar and a little lemon skin.

THE SOCIAL EVENT OF THE WEEK.

The Fete to Be Given Next Saturday by the Workers.

Interesting Programmes for the Afternoon and Evening.

Arrangements for the fete of the East Oakland Workers Saturday afternoon and evening have been completed and are on a scale to insure an event of more than ordinary interest and enjoyment to the participants. Unless the weather fulfills the threatening aspect of the skies for the last few days, the illuminations will be extraordinarily beautiful, furnished by innumerable pretty Japanese lantern.

The musical programme includes contributions from the best talent of the town and will furnish enjoyment for both afternoon and evening. There will be an intermission between the hours of 5 and 7, when a Spanish bean supper will be served. Ice cream, candy, and lemonade will be dispensed from pretty booths among the trees. A number of amusing things, among them a fortune teller and graphaphone will help the young people in making plenty of fun.

Those having the affair in charge are Mrs. Brewster, president; Miss Swain, vice president; Mrs. Cooper, secretary; Miss Davies, treasurer; Mrs. Coburn, Miss Blood, Miss Bush, Miss Ruth Pugh, Miss Cushing, Miss Frear, Miss Geleibe, Miss Rusch, Miss Emma Resseugie, Miss Beagrell, Miss Montana, Miss Jackson, Miss Helen Morley, Miss Claribel Williams, Miss Wakefield, Miss Leet.

The patronesses of the East Oakland Kindergarten are also aiding in the work of preparation. The Fruitvale Congregational Church will receive part of the proceeds.

The patronesses are: Mrs. Henry Wetherbee, Mrs. F. M. Smith, Mrs. D. Lathrop, Mrs. Dingley, Mrs. W. S. Goodfellow, Mrs. Kimball, Mrs. Valentine, Mrs. Taft, Mrs. Wakefield, Mrs. Tubbs, Mrs. G. R. A LIVELY TIME ON THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

Sugar Jumps Up But Is Soon Forced Back Once More.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Some sharp recoveries were shown at the opening of the stock market, especially in the grangers and industrials. Missouri Pacific showed a gain of 1¼ and Brooklyn Rapid Transit of a point. Trading was very animated. The covering of short contracts put out yesterday was quite lively for a time and carried prices up rapidly, gains being most marked where losses were sharpest. Chicago gas rose 2½. The Bears then drove sugar down 4 points and Chicago gas 2.

The demoralization soon extended to the general list and losses of a point or more became general.

The decline carried prices back to last night's level, losses in the Southwesterns reaching 2, in sugar 3, and in the Grangers and Southern Railroad 1½ points. A general rally on covering occurred, sugar rising 2½, Chicago gas 2, National lead 1¾ and the general list an average of a point. An easier tone developed at the advance and sugar lost the gain.

Bonds were active and quite weak.

The New Anheuser-Busch.

It will be pleasant news to the many Oakland friends of Mr. Frank Sonderleiter, for many years one of the proprietors of the well-known Anheuser-Busch saloon on Ninth street, between Washington and Broadway, to hear that he has severed his business connections in San Francisco and has again procured a partnership interest in the old-time place. He is associated with Mr. H. Bandle, who was one of the gentlemen who purchased the Anheuser when Messrs. Herbert and Sonderleiter sold out to engage in business across the bay.

The orderly manner in which the business has always been conducted at the Anheuser-Busch, the excellence of the liquors and beers, and the personal popularity of the management have been the factors of the success steadily reached.

Mr. Bandle is well liked by the old patrons and it goes without saying that Mr. Sonderleiter's return will revive many old friendships and help materially to make the good old Anheuser-Busch more popular than ever, and more than ever a place for old friends to meet to discuss "Auld Lang Syne" over a glass of frothy Anheuser with an appetizing lunch to whet the appetite and give a merry relish to the drink.

MESSIAH YOUNG'S SON HAS LEFT HIS HOME.

Deserts the Parental Roof Without Giving Any Notice.

The Evangelist Believes He Has Been Led Astray by Meddlers.

"Messiah" F. F. Young has come upon hard luck. Added to his arrest for cruelty to his 15-year-old daughter, comes the disappearance of his 17-year-old son, Howard. The lad left home some time ago and apparently has no intention of returning or of letting any one know of his whereabouts.

Colonel Dimpfel, Secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, is anxious to find out where Howard Young is, as he believes he will be an important witness against his father. "Messiah" Young was arrested recently, charged with cruelly beating his little girl. The evangelist of the new school of Christ vigorously denied the charge and threatened to bring suit against the lady who filed the complaint. The case has not been tried as yet as Colonel Dimpfel is still hunting up records of the "Messiah's" past life.

Howard Young is the eldest of the evangelist's nine children. He was at one time taken from his home by a Children's Society officer who held that he was not being properly reared. Young and his wife claim that the boy became wild and dissipated during the period he was under the Society's supervision. They declare he learned to drink and smoke, and believe that his present absence from home is due to his dissipations.

They are very bitter toward the Society, whose constant interference and meddling they claim is making their children disobedient and undutiful.

RAILROADS WILL WIN.

A Coming Decision in the Nebraska Maximum Rate Case.

FORECAST OF THE OPINION.

In Keeping With the Views of Judge Brewer's Injunction.

SUIT LOST IN STATE COURTS.

The Joint-Traffic Association Contest to End on Monday.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—A special to the Herald from Washington says:

"The Union Pacific, Burlington and Chicago and Northwestern Railroads will, it is expected, win their case against the State of Nebraska, the opinion in which will be handed down on Monday by the Supreme Court, in whose adjudication it was appealed at the spring term when William Jennings Bryan appeared as counsel for Nebraska.

Justice Brewer of the Supreme Court, sitting in circuit in Chicago two years ago, decided an injunction against the State against enforcing the Nebraska maximum freight law of 1893, the legality of the provisions of which was called into question by those railroads, and it is understood the opinion of the Supreme Court will be in accordance with this injunction.

"The law of 1893 established a schedule of maximum freight charges which was considered by the railroads doing business in the State as illegal, being too low to allow hauling on a living basis. It was asserted also that the law was unconstitutional.

"The case was pending more than four years in the State courts, the decision each time being in favor of the railroad companies.

Upon the granting of the injunction by Justice Brewer, the State carried its case to the Supreme Court of the United States, but at no time has there been any hope for a final decision favorable to the State. The case is almost identical with the Texas case which was decided by the Supreme Court in favor of the Texas railroads.

"The Supreme Court will hear the joint-traffic case on Monday. Experts are of the opinion that the decision of the court will be against the association. The case is analagous to the trans-Missouri case, decided at the spring term against the railway companies. It is more than two years old and was brought by District Attorney McFarlane in the New York Circuit Court at the request of the Inter-State Commerce Commission against the thirty-two railroads entering the city of New York and forming the Joint Traffic Association.

MEN OF WEALTH GOING ABROAD.

Speculation as to the Purpose of Morgan and Whitney's Foreign Trip.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—J. P. Morgan will sail for Europe today on the steamer Teutonic. At his office it was said his trip had no special public significance. It has been in contemplation for some time. His stay on the other side, it was stated, would not be long. It was reported in Wall street that the object of Mr. Morgan's trip was to re-organize his London firm, J. S. Morgan & Co. It was said that Mr. Burns, who has had the management of the business in London, was sick and desired to retire. Robert Bacon, a partner of Mr. Morgan in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., returned on Saturday from Europe. Mr. Morgan has a firm in Paris, Morgan, Marjes & Co.

William C. Whitney, ex-Secretary of the Navy, went to Europe yesterday from New York. Before his departure Mr. Morgan was reported as having been a visitor to Mr. Whitney's country place in the Berkshire hills. There was a rumor that Mr. Morgan and Mr. Whitney had a financial undertaking which required the presence of both in Europe. On this point no information was to be obtained.

A MOVE TO CAPTURE SCHOOLS AND COLLEGES.

The Kansas Idea of Spreading the Gospel of Debs' Social Democracy.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 13.—The Kansas contingent of the social democracy promulgated by E. V. Debs has laid a plan to carry the schools and colleges of this State. The State Club organized here is only the beginning of a crusade which its promoters expect will sweep through all the State schools and colleges of Kansas. Back of the scheme are some of the Populist leaders of the State and most active in the work of organization are appointees of Chief Justice Foster, of the Kansas Supreme Court.

The plan as outlined to-day is to employ teachers in the various State educational institutions to arouse sympathy with the Debs idea and then to organize clubs of the social democracy among the students so that when they go out into the world as teachers, or in other callings, they will be fitted to inculcate the new doctrine.

SUING ON A STATE TREASURER'S BOND.

Novel Defense Made on the Part of Several of the Sureties.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 13.—The trial of the case wherein the State is making an effort to collect $500,000 from the bondsmen of defaulting State Treasurer Joseph Bartley, has consumed three weeks and it promises to continue another month.

A singular feature of the case has developed. This is the multiplicity of defenses the bondsmen will make.

The testimony by which Mrs. John Fitzgerald, who qualified for $100,000 on the bond, hopes to escape liability, declares that the bond was presented to her a day after her husband died and that she was insane at the time. She has no recollection of having signed the instrument. The other bondsmen assert that if Mrs. Fitzgerald's signature is not legal, then the whole bond is illegal.

GRAVELY SUSPECTS HIS WIFE.

A Wealthy Texan Says His Spouse Wishes to Get His Property.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Oct. 13.—John D. Brannan, a wealthy fruit dealer of Galveston, Tex., has sued his wife, Amelia, for divorce in the District Court here. Brannan charges his wife with attempting to deprive him of his property valued at $55,000. He came here about six months ago from Winnipeg, Me., where he had been for about a year. He says that he went there after escaping from an insane asylum at San Antonio, Tex., where he had been incarcerated at the instance of his wife. Upon his promising to give up half of his estate, so he says, he was released from the asylum and put in the custody of a deputy sheriff. He managed to elude the officer and made his way north.

WIZARDS OF THE CUE AND BALL.

Another Billiard Tournament in Which Great Players Will Take Part.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—The world's most expert billiard players are to contest for the championship within two months. Frank Ives, Jacob Schaefer and George Slosson are to meet again. It is not improbable that Maurice Daly will also shy his cue into the game. The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company has offered a purse of $1250 for a sweepstakes tournament for the championship of the world. Eighteen-inch balk line is the style of play stipulated and the tournament will take place in this city in the latter part of November or the first of December. The net gate receipts, in addition to the purse, will be divided on the basis of 50, 30 and 20 per cent.

A FRENCH NOBLEMAN HAS DISAPPEARED.

Uncertainty as to the Whereabouts of Guido Falconette of Chicago.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Guido de Palazeu Falconette, who is said to be a French nobleman, living for the past two years at 1540 Wrightwood avenue, is missing, and his friends are greatly worried lest harm has come to him. The last news that has come from him since he left home in usual good spirits, giving no indication of an intended journey, was information from the French Consul that the man had been in his office last Wednesday. The missing Frenchman has been engaged since coming to Chicago as an insurance broker.

Foolhardiness of a Youth Who Asked to Be Punished.

A Slap From a Companion Over the Heart Has Fatal Results.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 13.—Fitzsimmons' famous solar-plexus blow was the cause of a death at the State Industrial School for Boys yesterday. While playing, John Carson, 16 years of age, drew a long breath and asked one of his dormitory mates to strike him in the chest. He was accommodated and wanted more and requested Frank Martin, an inmate from Albion, to strike him. Martin responded with a back-hand blow over the heart and Carson dropped dead.

The institution physician says the blow produced paralysis. Martin, who is but 14 years of age, is held blameless, inasmuch as the blow was struck in sport.

RETALIATING AGAINST THIS COUNTRY.

Chili Will Discriminate Against Imports From the United States.

When this work is finished, the Senate will take up a bill which has been introduced, providing for a retaliatory tariff against the United States. The bill provides for increased duties on imports and a great number of articles will be affected if the bill becomes a law.

A NOVELTY IN THE TURKEY LINE.

A Well-Formed Live Young One of the Species Found in Its Mother's Interior.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 13.—A local commission merchant has brought to light a phenomena which is attracting the attention of scientists here. While one of the employes of the commission house was dressing a turkey hen he was dumbfounded to find in its interior a well-formed young turkey as large as a full-grown pigeon. It is perfect in every way excepting the head which was attached to the mother and is a fatty growth. The little turkey died soon as it was severed from its dead mother. It was preserved in alcohol and is now in the collection of the Missouri Medical College, where it is attracting the attention of the medical fraternity.

A VAIN QUEST FOR BURIED GOLD.

A St. Louis Deposition Turns a Park Into a Little Clondyke.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—In a deposition yesterday taken before Special Commissioner Dillon, Louis Sicher, a bankrupt, under cross-examination testified that he had buried $15,000 in a tin box in O'Fallon Park, just north of the city. The newspapers published the story and hundreds of men, women and children with all kinds of implements, dug around in the park searching for the hidden treasure. One old man with a forked stick assiduously prospected in true mining style. The best the police could do was to keep the Clondykers from tearing up the flowerbeds, but every other foot of ground was turned. The money is still hidden.

DIED IN ST. LOUIS AFTER HARD FORTUNE.

Probable Fate of the Daughter of a Wealthy Fruit Man of Pasadena.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 13.—It is thought the girl who suicided yesterday was Nellie Anderson, daughter of a wealthy fruit grower at Pasadena, California, who eloped five years ago with Matt Mitzrowitch and was married at Stockton, and who deserted him two weeks later.

The girl, after deserting her husband went to Chicago, where, for some time, she was a cloak model at Marshall Field's. She posed as a model for Boyle, the sculptor, for his statue "Navigation" in the Transportation Building at the World's Fair.

FRAMING NEW LAWS.

Another Constitution Wanted by the Merchants' Exchange.

ON A MUCH BROADER SCOPE.

A Suggested Change in the Name of the Local Organization.

COLLECTING AN OLD MUSIC BILL

A Question as to Who Owes Money to the Infantry Band.

At the meeting of the directors of the Merchants' Exchange last night there were present Directors Brown, Cushing, Sohst, Sinclair, Sanborn, Muhr, Farwell, Wixson, Gier, Coward and Tum Suden.

The chair was occupied by President Arper.

The secretary read a communication from the City Council asking for the appointment of a committee to confer with the Park Committee of the Council, to consider propositions for parks which will come before that committee. The committee appointed consists of Directors Reid, Brown and Sohst.

Director Gier, from the committee on amended by-laws, reported that they recommended, with a few changes, the by-laws of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

A resolution was then introduced by Director Sinclair providing for the substitution of a new series of laws to take the place of those originally adopted when the Exchange was organized.

The proposed laws were then read by Secretary Pearce.

One of the principal changes suggested was the change of the name from Merchants' Exchange to the Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Cushing said he did not favor the change in the name, because they had now established an organization with a reputation.

Mr. Sinclair said that as it was desired to take in members who are not merchants the change proposed should be made.

Mr. Cushing said that that could be done as well under the old name as under the proposed one.

Mr. Gier said that the term Chamber of Commerce was a better commercial one, and it would be advisable to adopt it.

Mr. Wixson said the adoption of the proposed bylaws would mean that the Merchants' Exchange would have to adjourn sine die. The by-laws to him seemed to have a high-sounding tone of the boom town, Los Angeles. He thought that they had done very well under the name of the Merchants' Exchange and he was opposed to making a change.

The matter was continued for a week.

D. C. Brown said that Mr. Medau had authorized him to say that he had 500 acres of land which he wished to offer to the city for park purposes at the rate of $200 an acre.

Mr. Sohst spoke in favor of the Medau tract.

Mr. Farwell said that the Good Roads Association had offered to pay $4 for the rent of the rooms of the Exchange for two nights a month. The offer was accepted and the secretary was notified to inform the association of the fact.

Manager Dickerson of the Fifth Regiment Band said that he had been employed by the Merchants' Exchange to get up concerts in the City Hall park.

Chairman Arper said that the Exchange had never employed him to get up any concerts.

Mr. Dickerson said that the articles that he had in his possession showed that the concerts had been given under the auspices of the Merchants' Exchange.

Chairman Arper asked Mr. Dickerson who had hired him.

Mr. Dickerson replied that he had been hired by Mr. Witcher, who was at the time president of the Merchants' Exchange.

President Arper then said that Mr. Dickerson would have to look to Mr. Witcher for his pay. The Merchants' Exchange, he declared, had never given any concerts, and had never hired any one to give concerts. This matter had been gone over before and was well understood by the members of the Merchants' Exchange.

Mr. Dickerson said that he had undertaken the work of giving the concerts and that Mr. Witcher had gone to him and asked him to withdraw, as the Merchants' Exchange desired to have the concerts given under their auspices.

Chairman Arper said that the business of the Exchange was done by the directors and that there was no record of any authorization for concerts in the organization. In fact, the matter had been discussed, he said, by the directors and a letter had been sent to Dickerson notifying him that the Exchange had nothing to do with the concerts which were then being given.

Mr. Dickerson said that he still had that letter in his possession, but that it had been written two months after the concerts had been undertaken.

This closed the discussion and Dickerson retired, stating that he would look to Mr. Witcher for the payment of the bill, which amounts to $170.

The Board then adjourned.

Create Disturbance at a Fire.

Two men were arrested by Deputy Marshal Fred Rawson at the fire in Berkeley last night at which 1800 bales of hay were destroyed. Sam Windron was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace. Wm. Schneider who was arrested on a charge of arson a few days ago and discharged, was also present and distinguished himself by striking Rawson. Windron was sentenced to pay a fine of $30 or go to jail for 15 days by Justice Clift. He chose the latter. Schneider was given a choice between $100 fine or 50 days in jail. While he expressed a decided preference for the $100, he went to jail.

EBELL LADIES GIVE A PRETTY LUNCHEON.

An Old Charter Member Gives Some Delightful Reminiscences of Past Years.

A delightful luncheon was given by the Ebell Society yesterday at their club rooms. Mrs. J. L. Crittenden, Mrs. Breed, Mrs. Rosborough, Mrs. R. B. Colton and Mrs. A. B. Nye were the hostesses of the day. Several speeches were given after the luncheon. The guests of honor were Mrs. Carlton Crane of the Niles Club of Decoto, Mrs. Morrison of Honolulu, Mrs. Bartlett of Santa Ana, Mrs. W. E. Dargie and Mrs. Root, president of the Study Club of Quincy, Ill. All of the visitors made short speeches. Mrs. Bartlett was one of the charter members of the Ebell, and was an active worker in it when its meetings were held in two small rooms. The past ten years she has spent in the southern part of the State, and on this, her first visit to her old club, she was delighted and surprised to observe the growth and prosperity of the Ebell Society. Her remarks were especially interesting as she contrasted the Ebell of fifteen years ago with the Ebell of today. During the luncheon, Miss Blankart of East Oakland gave a charming violin solo. The luncheon was one of the pleasantest affairs ever given by the Ebell.

Saturday Mrs. Nico Beck Meyer will give an address on Ibsen and Bjornsen and their place in the evolution of man.

THE WATER FRONT CASE NOW AT AN END.

Denial of the Application for a Rehearing by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court of this State has denied the application of the attorneys for the city, for a rehearing on certain points in the suit brought by the city of Oakland against the Water Front Company to secure possession of the water front of this city.

The application was prepared by W. R. Davis, H. A. Powell, E. J. Pringle and W. Lair Hill.

It requested a re-consideration by the Supreme Court of the compromise of 1868, which, under the recent decision of the latter court, gave the water front to the Water Front Company.

It was sought to be shown that the compromise was defective and for that reason, a re-hearing was requested.

The denial of the request by the Supreme Court, ends the great legal controversy so far as the State courts are concerned and re-affirms the decision of the supreme tribunal in the matter at issue which was handed down about a month ago.

TAXES IN THE COUNTRY TOWNS.

Collector Barber's Tour to Help Residents in the County.

For the purpose of facilitating the collection of taxes in country towns, County Tax Collector Barber will visit the following places on the following dates and receive any taxes which may be offered to him:

Pleasanton, Tuesday, October 26th, at the Bank of Pleasanton.

Haywards, Wednesday, October 27th, at Luce's block.

Centerville, Friday, October 29th, at Gregory block.

Alameda, Saturday, October 30th, at city assessor's office.

Livermore, Friday, November 5th, at George Beck's store.

SETTING ASIDE THE ORDER OF THE COURT.

Another Move Made in the Closing of the East Oakland Road Foreclosure.

On Saturday next, before Judge Ogden, a motion will be made to vacate the order of the court authorizing the payment of $56,863.41 by the clerk out of $60,403.75, the amount received from the sale, under foreclosure, of the East Oakland Street Railway Line. The motion will be made by the Receiver, J. C. Johnson. It is held that the order is in violation of the decree of foreclosure touching the deposition of the funds.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Dr. J. J. Saxe and W. E. Travers have returned from a fishing and hunting trip on the San Joaquin river.

L. G. Burpee and Robert Leet left this morning for the McCloud river, where they will spend the coming fortnight fishing and hunting.

Mrs. White and daughter, Miss Virginia White, are the guests of Mrs. George Taylor Jr. in Portland, Or.

Miss Florence E. Wiley of Stockton is visiting friends in San Francisco and Oakland.

Prof. T. B. Dresslar of the U. C. is at the Ocean House, Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Marie A. Pierce of Alameda left yesterday for a tour of Europe that will include Rome, St. Petersburg and other cities.

Mrs. Tunis A. Browne and daughter Nellie have returned to Sacramento from a visit with relatives in this city.

A. D. Harrison of Alameda has returned from an extended tour in the East and Europe.

M. C. Winckeld is a guest at the Golden Eagle Hotel, Sacramento.

Clyde Carmen is the guest of Carl Wickstrom in South Vallejo.

C. H. Starkweather has returned from a brief stay in Napa.

Lyon Relief Corps gave a Quaker social last night at Loring Hall.

Prescott Lodge, Knights of Honor, will hold an open social meeting tonight at California Hall on Clay and Eleventh street.

Legault's Case.

The second preliminary trial of J. L. Legault, who is charged with setting fire to his grocery store at Thirty-fourth and Adeline streets, has been set for next Monday morning. The second trial is necessary on account of the failure to file the information in the Superior Court within thirty days of the commitment.

ST. FRANCIS DE SALES FAIR OPENS TONIGHT.

Rev. Peter Yorke, the Eloquent Divine, Will Deliver an Address.

Pretty Girls Will Have Charge of the Many Attractive Booths.

The finishing touches are being given to the many booths of St. Francis de Sales fair, and the bazaar will be formally opened this evening. The opening will be a brilliant social event, as this church is one of the largest in the city, and its fairs are noted for their attractiveness and novelty.

The hall has been elaborately trimmed. Myriads of electric lights will illuminate the scene. Well known society young ladies will have charge of the many pretty booths, in which various attractions and useful articles will be offered for sale.

There will be many novelties in entertainments. An animatoscope will be on display. A well known young lady will preside in a gypsy tent and tell fortunes. There will be several contests for prizes and other special features.

The Rev. Peter C. Yorke will be present this evening and deliver the opening address. There will also be music and speeches by other prominent persons.

The various booths are in charge of the following ladies:

Table No. 1, St. Francis de Sales—Mrs. J. Finnegan president, Miss Octavia Rico secretary, assisted by Mrs. J. M. Driscoll, Mrs. Henry Matthews, Mrs. P. Remillard, Mrs. R. Merrick, Miss Kitty Smith, Miss Ada English, Mrs. G. Bray, Mrs. Moller, Miss Mary Hickey, Miss Kate Donohue.

Table No. 2, Immaculate Conception booth—Under the charge of the Children of Mary, president Anna Porter.

Table No. 3, the Chrysanthemum booth—Mrs. M. Gallagher president, Mrs. Ed Fennon secretary, assisted by Mrs. M. Spence, Mrs. J. J. Hanifin, Mrs. Norton, Mrs. Lemontaigne, Miss T. Scanlon, Miss R. Clarke, Misses Kelley, Miss Hart, Miss F. Hanifin.

Table No. 4, Sacred Heart booth—Mrs. P. J. Ryan president, Miss L. Hemple secretary, assisted by Mrs. Fallon, Mrs. King, Mrs. McQueeny, Mrs. Romo, Mrs. Clarke, Miss Gallagher, Miss Moran, Miss Cottrell.

Table No. 5, League of the Cross Cadets—Mrs. Stanley president, Frank Summers secretary, assisted by Mrs. Wyams, Lieutenant Wyams, Captain J. J. Power, Sergeant Bronier, Sergeant M. Power and many other members of the cadets.

Table No. 6, refreshment booth—Mrs. L. Selby, Mrs. Selby Jr., Mrs. Fogarty, Miss Fogarty, Miss Selby and many others.

Table No. 7, candy booth—Miss M. Fitzgerald president, Miss K. Barrie, Mrs. J. McAvoy, Miss Paynter, Miss Fanell, Miss White, the Misses Conlon, the Misses Kline, Mrs. Call, Mrs. Callaghan.

Table No. 8, doll booth—Mrs. C. W. Caryl president.

An excellent programme has been prepared for this evening which will surely delight all the auditors because nearly all who appear on the stage are well known for their talents. There will be a tenor solo by W. M. Griffing, a contralto solo by Miss Grace Carroll, piano solos by Misses McNally and Georgiani, and a baritone solo by Senor Cafuci of San Francisco.

In addition to these, there will be an opening address by E. McFadden and some interesting remarks by Rev. P. F. Yorke of San Francisco, the chancellor of the arch-diocese.

BALLINGTON BOOTH OF THE VOLUNTEERS.

Gives an Interesting Address Before a Large Audience Last Night

Commander Ballington Booth of the American Volunteers addressed a large audience at the First Presbyterian Church last evening. He spoke chiefly concerning the rise and advancement of the Salvation Army, his connection with it, his discharge by General Booth and his organizing the Volunteers at the request of many of his friends.

He spoke of the present status of the Volunteers, and said that there were now 160 posts distributed throughout the United States, with over 7,000 members, 600 commissioned and 91 staff officers. The Volunteer Gazette has a circulation of 22,000 weekly, and owns its own publication house in New York. Considerable work is done among the prisoners. There are at present 2,000 prison leagues in the various penitentiaries and 7,000 are in correspondence with the Volunteer officers.

The Oakland post has established a home for unfortunate women on Thirty-fourth street, near Telegraph avenue, which is in charge of Mrs. Patterson.

Appointed Agent.

Thomas Agnew Sr. has been appointed agent for one of the largest fire insurance companies on this coast, representing Alameda, Contra Costa, and San Francisco counties. This contract dates for five years, beginning January 1st, 1898.

"The enemy is coming: To the fort for your lives!" When a wise man receives a plain warning of danger, he does not wait to let it overtake him; he seeks every reasonable means to fight it off.

Disease would almost never get the best of the average man if he was prepared to resist it, and took the natural precautions dictated by common sense.

When a man's stomach and liver get upset and fail to do their regular work, he can be certain that something worse is bound to follow, if he doesn't look out for himself. Headaches, indigestion, biliousness and constipation are simply Nature's warnings that the enemy of serious disease is coming to attack him.

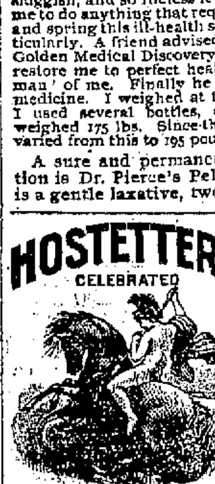

The sensible thing to do is to immediately fortify the system with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It vitalizes and invigorates the entire constitution. It helps the liver to filter out all bilious impurities.

It gives the digestive and nutritive organs power to extract nourishment from the food and turn it into rich, red, healthy blood. It creates appetite, good digestion, and solid, muscular strength.

It is far superior to the mere temporary stimulus of malt-extracts. It is better than cod liver oil emulsions because it is assimilated by the weakest stomach.

"About fifteen years ago" writes Mr. John McMichael, editor of the Plattsburg, (Mo.) Leader, "I was in very poor health, had no appetite, was sluggish, and so lifeless it seemed impossible for me to do anything that required effort. Every fall and spring this ill-health seemed to affect me particularly. A friend advised me to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery asserting that it would restore me to perfect health, and make 'a new man' of me. Finally he induced me to try the medicine. I weighed at the time about 135 lbs. I used several bottles, and upon quitting it weighed 175 lbs. Since that time my weight has varied from this to 195 pounds."

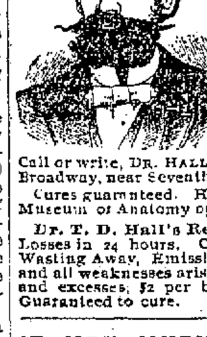

A sure and permanent cure for constipation is Dr. Pierce's Pellets. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

In the Superior Court of the county of Alameda, State of California.

In the matter of the estate of Albert Clark, deceased.

Order to show cause why order of sale of real estate should not be made.

It appearing to the said Court by the petition this day presented, and filed by Rod W. Church, the administrator of the estate of Albert Clark, deceased, praying for an order of sale of real estate, that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate belonging to the estate of said deceased, to pay the debts outstanding against the said deceased, and the debts, expenses and charges of administration:

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court on Monday, the 18th day of October, A. D. 1897, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Court-room of said Court, Department No. 4, at the Court House in the city of Oakland, then and there to show cause why an order should not be granted to the said administrator to sell so much of said real estate as shall be necessary, and that a copy of this order be published four successive weeks in the Oakland Tribune, a newspaper printed and published in said Alameda county.

Dated, Oakland, California, Sept. 11th, 1897.

F. B. OGDEN,
Judge of the Superior Court.

FOOTBALL AND BASEBALL.

Some Caustic Comment by the Umpire on Recent Events.

The principal events in the world of sports will be found recorded below:

THE UMPIRE.

The best of us sometimes forget our friends when we beat them out a length or so in the race for fame and we are prone to look back from the dizzy heights of success with something akin to pity at our less fortunate associates of the olden time.

Pugilists seem to be entirely human in this respect.

This thought is brought forcibly to mind by the refusal of Tom Sharkey, the bruiser, to meet Peter Jackson. Sharkey is the last man in the world that one would expect to draw the color line, but he has done so in the case of Jackson. Whether color or fear is responsible for the refusal is a difficult question to decide, but there are many who are strongly inclined to believe it is the latter.

The San Francisco Post lampoons the ex-sailor as follows:

"Sam Fitzpatrick, late trainer and who formerly acted in a like capacity for Peter Jackson, is now in Chicago and claims to have received a letter from Tom Sharkey, in which the latter says he would not meet Peter Jackson because of his color.

"It is noteworthy that Sharkey discovered his aversion to fighting a colored man just about the time Jackson came West looking for a match.

"It is but about three years ago that the sailor was content to mess in the forecastle of Uncle Sam's boats with black and white men, and if memory serves us well, the black men were among his most enthusiastic admirers when the marines and sailors accorded him a reception at Vallejo after his first victory in this city."

* * *

The merry war of words over the late contest between George Dixon and Solly Smith goes on apace and it now really looks as though the men would come together for a finish fight.

Tom O'Rourke, Dixon's backer continues to claim that the late contest was not for the championship of the world, since it was limited to twenty rounds. While O'Rourke's contention is in the nature of what the small boy calls "craw fish," it is not entirely without merit. Certain it is that it is generally conceded that battles for the championship must be to a finish, but in the Dixon-Smith contest it was agreed by all concerned that the winner of the fight at Woodward's Pavilion would henceforth be entitled to sign himself, "Featherweight Champion of the World."

Smith has challenged Dixon for another battle and Dixon has accepted the challenge and the men will probably fight in February, so the public will be subjected to but four more months of "jawing" before the question is settled forever.

* * *

Joe Goddard, the Australian heavyweight, is a man of remarkably few words for a pugilist. In New York the other day he summed up the boxing situation as follows:

"I notice a tendency on the part of Corbett's managers to ascribe motives to me which never entered my mind. I am quoted as saying that I have no intention of fighting Fitzsimmons. I never made any such statements. On the contrary, I am anxious to meet any boxer in the business. My position is this: I shall not go about challenging Fitzsimmons. I am willing to meet some of the other heavyweights first. The proof of this is the fact that I am now matched to box Sharkey. If I am successful I shall be ready to take on some one else, Corbett preferred, for just as much money as he wants. If Corbett meets me and I defeat him, I will then challenge Fitzsimmons to fight for the championship."

"I am more entitled to fight Fitzsimmons than Corbett; but I am willing to fight Corbett for the privilege of challenging Fitz. In 1892, when I hunted up Corbett in Chicago, showed him $2,500 in cash and asked him to cover it, he told me to go and whip Jackson. The case is different now, but nevertheless I am going to try and defeat Sharkey, a man that Corbett failed to whip."

Goddard certainly has the right idea, both from a financial and professional stand point, but it is safe to assume that he will never attain to the world's championship.

The premium list of the thirteenth annual horse show of New York is 33,000. The show opens at Madison Garden, November 15th.

* * *

The recent meet of the Pacific Coast Trotting Horse Breeders' Association at Oakland Park," says the California Turf, "so far as the finances of the club are concerned, must have been anything but a good thing for it, as the attendance all through was poor in the extreme. The racing though, was good but it is only too evident that trotting races, at all events as now carried out, have no attractions for the masses of the people of San Francisco and its neighborhood. No greater proof of this could be found than in the miserable attendance the last day. The day was beautiful, the course one of the finest in the country, within a five or ten cent ride of a population of 50,000 people, good horses to contest in the events of the day, yet the audience present could not have been more than four or five hundred. A change from old fashioned ideas is surely necessary and that speedily, too, or in a very short time, the light harness racing will be a thing of the past."

* * *

The football outlook was never brighter on the Coast than it is this season, and the admirers of they of the chrysanthemum locks expect some rare sport before the season is ended. All the clubs are inactive training and it is evident that the game in the West is making giant strides.

Another club is shortly to make its appearance on the gridiron field and it is now trying to secure a game with Reliance. It is the new Army and Navy Club.

If the Army and Navy had continued as it started out in the beginning of the season, it might have been no small factor in the football world. It had some of the best players of the old Olympic eleven and promised to make itself felt. However, an officious lieutenant tried to revolutionize things by putting in a lot of new privates to train. The Olympians immediately withdrew. But the loss of the Army and Navy was Reliance's gain, so there is no kick coming from this side of the bay.

* * *

Oakland owes much to the Oakland, San Leandro and Haywards electric line for the removal of the Velodrome track from San Francisco to Elmhurst. The track is a magnificent affair and its removal to this side of the bay means a boom in wheeling for this city. The Velodrome will be opened soon by the Acme Club wheelmen.

The wheelmen in the Oakland clubs have been in poor luck this season. Something unforseen happens every time they are expected to put their best foot forward.

At the ten-mile road race last Sunday a series of accidents occurred to the Oakland riders, and the trophy, which otherwise would have been Oakland's, went to a San Francisco club.

Caspar Whitney, sporting editor of Harper's Weekly, and self-appointed censor of Pacific Coast athletes, is expected back from where he has been on a hunting expedition, before the holidays. He will doubtless have further criticisms to offer in regard to the manner in which Westerners conduct their sports.

Whitney's pet hobby is his antagonism against Sunday sports of all kinds, and he sees no virtue in a clean, healthful sport, if played on what he deems the "Sabbath."

A prominent minister of Vermont, Dr. James Aulley by name, recently urged upon the parents of his congregation to cultivate in their children a habit of indulging in some healthful pastime on Sundays.

"It is far better for your children," said he, "to have some innocent amusement to occupy their minds than for them to seek amusement on Sundays in gambling hells and gin mills.

"It is too often the case in this age for young men to be denied the privilege of witnessing a game of baseball or cricket on Sunday. They therefore find themselves with a lot of time on their hands and very often they spend it in places of vice, where they acquire habits that bring them to a drunkard's grave and not infrequently to the gallows."

* * *

A glance around the city at present shows an unusual activity in both amateur and professional sports. Both the Reliance and Acme Clubs are booming and interest in baseball and football is at fever heat.

The races at the Oakland race track begin next month and preparations are being made for one of the biggest meets ever held at the track.

Down town, the sports seem to have considerable money, and it is said that several thousand dollars of Oakland cash changed hands on the Dixon-Smith fight. Money is also being put in circulation by the gamesters, and there are a number of "keno" games kept running nightly.

In keeping with this state of affairs is the proposition to reduce the saloon licenses, now being considered by the Council, and it is understood that an ordinance to all the saloons to keep open all night will soon be introduced.

THE UMPIRE.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

Reliance is Wrathy Over Some of Last Saturday's Decisions.

The game between the Reliance and Stanford football elevens last Saturday resulted in a small victory for the men from Palo Alto and since then the Reliance men have charged that Umpire Hall was unfair in his decisions, and that, had he decided differently on one or two occasions, the game would at least have been a tie.

They say that when Code dropped the punt out on the five-yard line, it was due to the interference of the Stanford players and they claim that this interference was foul play and should have been so decided by umpire and referee. Had Code been allowed a fair catch it would have been an easy matter for him to have kicked a goal.

Pete Smith, the Reliance guard and former captain of the Olympic eleven, has this to say in regard to the decision:

"There is no doubt about our losing the two points by which Stanford defeated us by an incorrect decision in regard to the punt-out play. Code was interfered with by the Stanford players in making his catch. This fact was admitted. He dropped the ball. Under the rules but one punt-out is allowed. If the ball is not caught it goes to the center of the field. Owing to the Stanford men having deliberately interfered with Code we claimed the fair catch and a try at goal. Captain Cotton advanced the argument that each side had an equal chance at the ball when it was kicked, as his men were even with the ball and so 'on side.' That is a fallacy. The players of the side scored against are allowed to stand as near as five feet on either side of the punter. When the ball touches the ground on a place-kick after the punt-out they then are given the privilege of charging and blocking the kick. As to the punt-out over which the controversy arose, however, rule 8 provides that a fair catch is made from such a kick, and it is plainly stated that there shall be no interference. Theree can b no other inference drawn from the wording than that the ordinary privileges of a fair catch are extended the catcher of a punt-out, again, in rule 6 it is stated that a punt-out is a punt to a player for a fair catch.

"The point was afterward brought up that inasmuch as Code was within the five-yard line in making his catch, it was either side's ball. This is not so. The rule provides that he must stand at least fifteen feet from the goal line, simply for the reason of making the punt-out a bit difficult. In fact, it is on account of this difficulty of punting out in a true manner that the fair catch rule was provided. The moment the ball is punted the catcher may run in any direction to secure it. In reference to this I will cite an instance in one of the big intercollegiate games. It was in the '94 match, I believe, after Stanford had scored her touchdown. Harrelson stood in front of the goal posts on the five-yard line waiting to receive Kennedy's punt-out. He attempted to make a free catch on the two-yard line. Plunkett, the Berkeley guard, interfered and knocked the ball from his hands. Umpire Hall gave the quarter-back the free catch and a few minutes later the goal was kicked."

The Stanford men deny that there was anything wrong with the decision and W. H. Harrelson, the ex-Stanford player, who acted as linesman at the game, has this to say of the ruling:

"It is admitted that the Stanford backs interfered, but there is still even the further question, I believe, whether Code could have caught the punt-out, which was not a good one under any circumstances. At any rate, for the sake of argument, he missed under Stanford interference. Now, rule 8 clearly states that a fair catch may be made from a punt-out by a player on the same side as the punter, and if the player, trying for a fair catch, be interfered with by an opponent who is off side, a foul is committed. Further, in this rule it is remarked that a foul is committed only when the opponent is off side, the concrete case, for example, being the interference of a runner, off side, coming down upon the man trying for a fair catch from a punt in midfield. Here the fifteen-yard penalty applies, but as to the punt-out, of course does not apply, since, in that play, no benefit is to be gained by securing the fifteen yards.

"In reference to the punt-out in this case, the point is that all the players in their own goal are on side, and consequently have an equal chance for any ball punted from the line. Rule 11 b states that no player can be called off side in his own goal, which means, of course, that all are on side. This certainly applies in this case. The rule providing that he must keep five feet distant from the punter exists in order to protect him from players who, the moment the ball leaves his foot, have an equal right to secure it."

Interest at Berkeley, at Stanford and at the Reliance Club increases as the season advances and the admirers of the game are eagerly looking forward to the great inter-collegiate game to be played on Thanksgiving Day.

The men continue in active training and will do so until after the season is over.

RELIANCE DOINGS.

The Members Are Taking Much Interest in Gymnasium Work.

The Reliance football and baseball teams both lost last week. The football players had much the best of it in the game last Saturday, but a few bad decisions lost the game for them. The game a week from Saturday will be the game of the season.

The baseball team will play the Gilt Edges at Sacramento next Sunday. The boys will have a good pitcher for the game, and will give the Gilt Edges a hard rub.

There will be a "try-out" next Friday night at 8:30. It promises to be a very warm affair.

Rosenheim rode a great race last Sunday. Cramer, a new man in the wheeling annex, was second in the first bunch at the bridge near Haywards, when he was thrown. He was getting on his wheel again, when some man ran into him and broke his wheel, throwing him out of the race entirely.

The gymnasium has been crowded the last few class nights. The boys are taking great interest in the work.

AT THE ACME.

A Cycle Path From Oakland to San Jose Being Agitated.

There have been few who ride wheels around the bay county who have not enjoyed the ride from Oakland to San Jose. The almost level condition of the country, and the pleasant scenery along the route, bringing into view the hills in the distance, and the constantly recurring grain field and orchard of the valley, make it one of the most delightful trips for a wheelman.

While a number of the wheelmen of the Acme Club, who have frequently taken this trip, were discussing a ride to Golden Gate Park and from there to the Cliff House, the subject was broached of a cycle path from Oakland to San Jose, which would compare in material with the Park-Cliff path. Every wheelman would subscribe his quota. The resorts on the road, in consideration of the additional trade it would bring them, should assist liberally, and, as cycling is now almost as common a mode of locomotion for short and long distance as travel by train or wagon, the counties should assist in this direction, as well as in the direction of good wagon roads.

A path six or eight feet wide, graded with such material as the Park-Cliff path is graded with, kept exclusively for wheels, could, after once being built, be maintained at little cost and make the journey to San Jose and return or any of the intervening points an easy trip for any rider.

It is worth making an effort to see what can be done in the matter. It would be a great ride.

The ten mile race has been run, and one of the San Francisco dailies remarked that out of the twenty Acme riders who started eighteen fell. It was nearly that bad.

Burke's fall was very unfortunate, as he had caught the limit men at San Leandro and had gained one minute in the distance, which was just one-half the course. At the same speed he would have equaled the best time, and very likely have been first to cross the tape.

Wyman, who was expected to give every one a hard run for time prize, broke his wheel and had to give up the race.

Captain Shedd simply looked at the result. His riders all up in good positions at the time accidents occurred, showed their ability, and he quietly said: "Better luck next time."

The athletic committee has in hand the arrangement of a gentlemen's night for about the end of October.

For a long time there has been an effort to bring together Bert Brown of the Acme and Joe Reay of the Olympics. Reay is desirous of meeting Brown if he will agree to weigh 157 pounds at the ring-side. If conditions can be met, Brown and Reay will probably be one of the matches for the next gentlemen's night.

McAvin of the Acme Club is desirous of meeting any other amateur of 140 pounds.

These two matches should be equal to anything arranged in amateur circles for some time.

The wintry element has driven nearly every one indoors, consequently the gymnasium and parlors are well filled these evenings.

FOOTBALL AT BERKELEY.

Ex-Captain "Bobby" Haskell Injured in a Practice Game.

The training table of the football team of the University of California will be started with sixteen men on October 18th. Professor Walter Magee will have charge of the diet.

Captain Hall has announced that practice will be held daily, rain or shine, hereafter. It is deemed advisable to have the men practice on rainy days that they may be able to play should rain fall on Thanksgiving Day.

Ex-Captain "Bobby" Haskell is confined to his bed with injuries which may prevent his playing in the big intercollegiate game. Several of his ribs were torn from the cartilage several days ago. His place will be taken by George Spence, '98.

The trouble between Edward Sheehy and Instructor A. B. Pierce has resulted in the withdrawal of Pierce from the assistant coachship.

The freshmen will play the San Francisco Y. M. C. A. team on the Berkeley campus this afternoon.

ALAMEDA NEWS.

Thornton; discussion of the medical profession from the standpoint of the layman, by the members and guests; all physicians present will be expected to take the medicine prescribed without back talk; piano (four hands), "Lustspiel Overture" (Keler Bela), Albert W. Mitchell and G. R. Elme; closing ode, "Listen to the Mocking Bird."

The Young Men's Club will give an entertainment Thursday evening at the First Presbyterian Church. The programme is as follows: piano solo, Robert Harnden; mandolin solo, Louis McGlauflin; vocal solo, J. C. Bates; selection, orchestra; vocal solo, Miss Edith Pariser; flute solo, George Burgess; recitation, Miss Ethel Downs; vocal solo, Miss Blanche Tisdale; recitation, John McCulloch; violin solo, Miss Elsie Hutton. The accompanists will be Mrs. H. R. Lipman, Miss Mitchell, Miss Mabel Jones, Miss Harnden, and Miss Zimmerman.

The funeral of the late W. L. Halle was held this afternoon from American Foresters' Hall, under the auspices of Alameda Parlor No. 47, N. S. G. W.

Harry Rosseter, a resident of this city, sustained a bullet wound in the ankle of the right foot recently in New York. He sailed from San Francisco for New York on the Kenilworth. While making his bed one morning the revolver fell to the floor from under the pillow. It discharged and the bullet entered the foot.

Another Alamedan has met misfortune in New York, namely, Daniel Sullivan, a son of D. T. Sullivan, who is at the Marine Hospital, Staten Island. While making the voyage around the Horn on the W. H. Macy, Sullivan became very sick from a so-called "salt water boil" on his arm. An amputation of the arm may be necessary.

The German Ladies Relief Society will give its annual ball Saturday evening, November 6th, at Harmonie Hall.

Mrs. F. D. Bovard is attending the State convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Church.

John F. Butterick has returned from a lengthy visit in the East. A family re-union of the Butterick's was held at Concord September 5th, at which 180 members of the family were present.

Dr. Aconhyantekha Acland of Toronto, Canada, is in this city and may establish himself permanently in Alameda.
